U. S. Embassy Set Afire In Laos Battle

Americans Flee Capital; Reds Retreat

Communists Shell Buildings; 4 U.S. Citizens Injured

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Big guns of retreating Red forces Thursday set ablaze the U.S. Embassy and other buildings in Vientiane. Americans and many others fled the fought-over capital of Laos.

Non-Communists seemed to have gained the upper hand by early Friday.

Communists appeared to have fired aimlessly from the edges of the city in hit-or-miss efforts to destroy it as they left.

Radio reports from U.S. Embassy employes in Vientiane Friday morning described the capital as quiet. The fires set by shelling of retreating pro-Communists had died down.

The U.S. Embassy was among more than 10 buildings badly damaged by fire after being hit by shells.

Four Americans have suffered minor injuries in the three days of fighting for the city between rightist forces led by Gen. Phoumi Nosavan and pro - Communist Pathet Lao guerrilla forces supporting leftist paratrooper Capt. Kong Le.

Mortar Shells Hit Embassy

Associated Press correspondent Roy Essoyan in a dispatch from Vientiane said anti-Communist forces held the center of the city Thursday night and the aimlessness of the shelling suggested Kong Le may make good his threat to level Vientiane before giving it up.

The U.S. Embassy was hit by three mortar shells before flames from an adjacent building set its roof afire.

The opening up of shell fire prompted the mass evacuation.

Planeloads of American citizens were brought from Vientiane to Bangkok.

An embassy official said 20 key personnel have been left in Vientiane but other persons for whom the embassy is responsible had been ordered out.

"The evacuation should not be interpreted as meaning that all is lost in Vientiane," the official said. "The physical condition is such that there is no point in keeping all the American personnel there."

Addis Ababa "Massacre" Is Reported

Ethiopian Radio Says Several Slain In Coup Aftermath

LONDON (AP)—The Ethiopian radio reported Thursday night an "inhuman massacre" in Addis Ababa, where Crown Prince Asfa Wassan has been proclaimed king replacing his father, Emperor Haile Selassie. Several civilians were reported killed and many wounded.

The broadcast said "a group of bandits" opened fire on "peaceful civilians demonstrating for the new representative people's government."

It reported later that "the two fighting parties have settled their dispute" and agreed to work with the new regime.

But the Ethiopian Embassy in Paris, still loyal to the bearded 68-year-old "King of Kings," said the fighting was between partisans of father and son. Claiming rising support for Selassie, the embassy said fighting also had broken out in Asmara, a city of 90,000 between Addis Ababa and the Red Sea.

Military's Role Uncertain

The role of the military in the kingdom of northeast Africa was in doubt. But at least part of the army in the capital was known to be loyal to the new regime. Officials in London were told army units were guarding British, U.S., and French embassies in Addis Ababa.

The Ethiopian radio declared those who attacked the demonstrators were "under the influence of two traitors."

They were named as Gen. Kabeda Gabre, former commander in chief of the Ethiopian army, and Merid Mengesha, who was Selassie's minister of state under the Defense Ministry. A spokesman at the Ethiopian Embassy in London said the two "seem to be supporters of the emperor."

Selassie On Way Home

Selassie headed home from Brazil, cutting short a visit abroad. Apparently bent on keeping him from landing, the Ethiopian regime barred all flights in and out of the kingdom. But a Swedish charter plane with 54 Swedes aboard was allowed to land at Addis Ababa, a Cairo report said.

Gen. Abiye Abebe, the emperor's representative in Eritrea, on the Red Sea, cabled the Ethiopian Embassy in London insisting that the army, air force and the country at large were loyal to the emperor. Abebe said the crown prince was "under pressure from certain elements of the imperial bodyguard and police." The implication was that these forces, not the army, were behind Wednesday's coup.

The Ethiopian radio announced that Ras Imeru, 68, former ambassador to the United States, the Soviet Union and India, is the new premier under Wassan.

Cabinet Appointees

Agriculture Post Handed To Freeman

Kennedy Selects Goldberg As His Labor Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy Thursday night chose Minnesota's Gov. Orville Freeman to be his secretary of agriculture. Kennedy also picked AFL-CIO lawyer Arthur J. Goldberg, an apostle of labor-management peace, as his secretary of labor.

Freeman and Goldberg—both Democrats—were the sixth and seventh Cabinet selections made by Kennedy and left him with three spots yet to fill—secretary of the Treasury, attorney general and postmaster general.

Earlier in the day, Kennedy disclosed that Rep. William L. Dawson, 74, of Illinois had declined appointment as postmaster general, passing up the chance to be the first Negro Cabinet member in the nation's history.

Kennedy said tonight he would have at least one more Cabinet appointment to announce Friday, and maybe all three of those still to be made.

Kennedy made the Freeman announcement in the glare of newsreel floodlights from the doorstep of his Georgetown home. The 42-year-old Freeman was at his side.

Freeman Nominated Kennedy

The youthful Freeman, a year younger than Kennedy, was defeated in November in his bid for re-election as governor of Minnesota.

It was Freeman who nominated Kennedy for the pesidency at the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles last July.

Freeman, a Lutheran, is a lawyer by profession. A major in the Marines during World War II, he won the Purple Heart, awarded for wounds in action.

Freeman became governor of Minnesota in 1955. He lost his bid for another term as governor on Nov. 8 while Minnesota was going for Kennedy by a narrow margin.

A few minutes after announcing appointment of Freeman, Kennedy said he was naming Rep. George McGovern, D-S.D., as director of the new administration's food-for-peace program.

That is a plan for distribution of commodities abroad with a view to promoting international good will and at the same time relieving huge domestic surpluses.

McGovern, 38, a two-term House member, tried for the Senate this year, but was defeated by Republican Sen. Karl Mundt.

Freeman said of his appointment: "I regard this task ahead as a real challenge and a great opportunity. The problems in agriculture are difficult and complicated. No one knows all the answers, but the answers can, must and will be found.

UN-Conducted Vote In Algeria Endorsed

Political Group Approves Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. political committee Thursday night recommended that the Algerian people be permitted to decide their own future in a referendum organized, controlled and supervised by the United Nations.

The vote on the Asian-African proposal was 47-20 with 28 abstaining.

This was slightly more than the two-thirds majority required for General Assembly approval, but the fate of the resolution was not certain.

In any event the recommendation was expected to be rejected by France. The French delegation boycotted the entire U.N. debate on the ground that Algeria is a French internal problem and therefore outside the jurisdiction of the United Nations.

The United States was among those voting against the proposal. Asst. Secretary of State Francis O. Wilcox said the United States favors a referendum under neutral supervision, but feels that under present circumstances the Asian-African resolution would only encourage extremists on both sides.

The Algerian debate took place against a background of violence and death in Algeria where President Charles de Gaulle had sought to explain his latest peace plan in a personal visit.

After his return to France, De Gaulle insisted he would stand firm in his determination to hold a Jan. 8 referendum throughout France and Algeria on his plan to let the Algerians eventually determine their own future status.

Defense Dept. Revises Order On Dependents

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department Thursday modified the controversial order sharply cutting the number of military dependents abroad.

The department did so by specifying exemptions to the 200,000 limit set by a Presidential directive on Nov. 17.

The limit stands under the revised memorandum made public Thursday night by James H. Douglas, deputy secretary of defense acting in the absence of Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. But the exclusions could mean that at least 60,000 more family members will be permitted abroad than was envisioned in the original order.

The modified program also will ease the immediate impact on the military services by cancelling the hard and fast monthly quota of reductions that was to have started in January.

Under the new system, each service will set up its own monthly quotas and very few military men ordered overseas in the early months of the year will have to go without their families.

The military dependent population overseas, including civilians working for the services, totals 484,000.

The revised program specifically exempts about 30,000 dependents who paid their own way and are living near their military menfolk.

The revised order also exempts dependents of foreign nationals in U.S. military forces. A Pentagon spokesman specifically cited in this category the families of Filipinos serving in the Navy and some Europeans — Germans, Austrians and others permitted to enlist under a special Act of Congress.

Another exemption from the ruling covers dependents who are non-Americans and are residing in the country of their citizenship.

New Cold Front Covers Midwest

By The Associated Press

A cold front, aided by strong gusty winds, spread over the middle of the continent Thursday.

It extended from northern Michigan into Texas. Midday temperatures in the teens or lower were reported from the Dakotas into Minnesota. Readings in the 20s extended from Iowa into Nebraska.

Elsewhere, temperatures in the 30s or 40s were reported in the South, except for 60s and 70s in Florida. Severe thunderstorms, however, were expected to bring hail and damaging winds into northern and central Florida.

Readings in the 20s and 30s were common from the North Atlantic states into the Great Lakes region as well as in the Rocky Mountain states, although there were lower readings at higher elevations.

Baudouin, Bride Honeymooning

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — King Baudouin and his radiant bride went off on their honeymoon Thursday night, leaving happy Belgians hoarse from cheering.

Within a matter of months, the nation had lost an empire but gained a queen. Belgians, for the moment, forgot the lost Congo. It was a time for dancing and laughter, a time to cry out: "Long live the king! Long live the queen!"

Far into the night, singers strolled the streets and citizens stood before the floodlit palace, trading impressions of a gala day and a great reunion of Europe's dwindling royalty.

For hours the citizens stood hoping for another glimpse of Baudouin and Queen Fabiola, but the royal couple apparently gave them the slip. A plane often used by the king flew off to Spain, supposedly with the couple aboard in accordance with an earlier announcement they were leaving for an undisclosed destination.

U. N. Control Of Congo Army Is Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —India and Yugoslavia were preparing a resolution Thursday night aimed at placing all Congolese military forces under command of the United Nations.

Diplomatic sources said the new proposal would be submitted to the U.N. General Assembly before it convenes Friday morning for debate on the Congo.

Other main points of the resolution called for immediate steps to reconvene the Congolese Parliament, and for release of all political prisoners. This would include deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba, being held for trial by the Congo army of Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo strongman.

Thursday the General Assembly's Budget Committee challenged the Soviet Union's adamant stand against paying any part of the costs for the U.N. Congo operation. This year's bill is estimated at $60 million.

In what amounted to a curtain-raiser for Friday's full-scale assembly session on all aspects of the Congo, the 99-nation committee voted 45-15 with 25 abstentions for a resolution to establish a special account to cover the 1960 U.N. Congo costs.

It contains a clause spelling out that all U.N. members are obligated legally to pay their assessed share.

It will take a two-thirds majority in the assembly to win approval. Fourteen nations were absent in the committee vote, and thus the assembly outcome was not assured.

The United States voted for the resolution, although it had insisted previously that the 1960 Congo costs be made a part of the regular U.N. budget subject to assessments.

A Polish amendment that would have deleted a key paragraph making the Congo costs a legal obligation was defeated 40 against, 27 for with 17 abstentions.

Bomber Tire Explodes Killing Two Airmen

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (UPI)—Two airmen were killed Thursday when a huge tire from a B52 Stratofortress jet bomber exploded minutes after they had removed it from the plane.

An Air Force spokesman said the tire, which measured 56 inches in diameter, blew up in the base tire shop.

Three Tots And Woman Found Slain

DETROIT (AP)—Three children and a woman were stabbed to death Thursday and police sought the mother of one of the dead youngsters in the mass slaying.

Police launched a search for Delores Martin, 26, after the body of her son, Daran, 3, was found stuffed in a chest in her bedroom.

A note in the woman's home led officers to the home of Mrs. Martin's brother, Lawrence, 28, where they found the man's wife, Virginia, 24, and their children, Wanda, 2, and Tony, 3, dead of stab wounds.

Officers said Mrs. Martin had been under the care of a psychiatrist for several months. They said the slayings were "very brutal."

The search for Mrs. Martin began when the woman's mother, Mary Wilks, 44, called to tell them she could not find Daran and her daughter had disappeared.

Moon Rocket Explodes Soon After Blastoff

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An Atlas-Able rocket designed to hurl a 388-pound moonlet 240,000 miles through space and place it in orbit around the moon exploded in the sky over Cape Canaveral Thursday a scant 8 to 12 miles from the launch site.

It was the final shot in a lunar probe program that cost the nation $35-million but brought only one partial success in eight tries.

The next lunar probe is at least six months away, and no American plan to orbit the moon exists in the foreseeable future.

Russia has not been able to orbit the moon, although it has two successful lunar probes to its credit.

The U.S. failures have mounted into a multi - million - dollar "jinx" which seems to center on the unwieldy looking Atlas-Able, a 10-story rocket shaped like a soft-drink bottle with a thin straw on top.

Four Atlas-Ables were built for moonshots. The first blew up on its pad and the next two disintegrated or misfired in the air.

Swedish Princess Engaged To Prince

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The engagement of blonde, 23-year-old Princess Birgitta of Sweden to Prince Johann Georg of Hohenzollern, 28, was announced by the Swedish court Thursday. No date for the wedding was made public.

King Of Nepal Seizes Power

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — King Mahendra arrested popular Premier B. P. Koirala and other Cabinet ministers, suspended the constitution, and took over all powers in this Himalayan kingdom Thursday.

He accused the Koirala government of "failure to maintain law and order, harboring undesirable activity and killing the people's democratic aspirations." It was the first elected government in the nation's history.

Some informed sources said the king was concerned about the speed with which the ordinary powers of government had passed from the throne into Koirala's hands.

After the 1959 elections swept Koirala and his Nepali Congress into power, the king reverted to his role as religious leader and chief of state.

Ike Gets Clean Bill Of Health

They reported after completing the annual head-to-toe examination of the President that his "general condition continues excellent."

The joint statement of Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Army surgeon general, and Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder also noted improvement in the President's chronic bronchitis, reported in the last annual examination, as well as in the bursitis of the left shoulder.

In nonmedical language, Eisenhower himself gave a report on his health.

As he left Walter Reed Army Hospital Thursday morning, bundled up in a heavy coat against the cold weather, he was asked by newsmen how he felt.

"Pretty good, fine," he replied.

He entered the hospital Tuesday night for the second phase of his annual physical checkup. The first phase of the examination had been conducted in mid-September.

Negro Turns Down Offer Of Kennedy Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy disclosed Thursday that he had asked a Negro, Rep. William Dawson of Illinois, to serve in his cabinet. But Dawson decided he would rather stay in Congress.

If the 74-year-old Democrat had accepted, he would have become the first Negro cabinet member in U.S. history.

Kennedy said he had asked Dawson to become postmaster general. After the offer was made last Tuesday, Dawson gave the matter "some reflection" and then decided to remain in the House.

"I regret that he will not be with us in the administration," Kennedy told reporters after making the surprise disclosure from the steps of his Georgetown home.

Dawson, one of the nation's top Negro politicians, said he felt he could best serve his country, his party and the state of Illinois by remaining in the House, Kennedy said.

The president-elect said he accepted Dawson's decision but expected to consult him on problems of government.

The president-elect did not get involved in the campaign furor over whether a Negro should be appointed to the cabinet, an issue that became explosive in the South after Henry Cabot Lodge said he thought the idea was a good one.

Kennedy confined himself to making a statement that he would choose his cabinet members on the basis of ability.

Jet Bomber Explodes; 10 Crewmen Escape

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP) — An $8 million B52D jet bomber, crippled in an aerial refueling accident, exploded and burned after an emergency landing Thursday. The 10 men aboard escaped. Only one was injured.

The bomber's left wing, punctured by the refueling boom of a KC135 jet tanker, collapsed as the eight-jet B52 rolled on the runway at Larson Air Force Base. The men scrambled out as crash crews rushed to their aid and the flames destroyed the bomber.

"They got out any way they could," said a Larson public information officer.

Final Official Vote Tabulations Give Kennedy 111,957 Plurality Over Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the closest presidential race in 76 years, Democrat John F. Kennedy scored a popular vote plurality of only 111,957 over Republican Richard M. Nixon in final official tabulations Thursday.

Little Rhode Island came through with its official vote to complete the 50-state total.

The total vote for president on Nov. 8 was 68,833,254. This was 6,804,195 over the previous record in 1956. The new figure far exceeded pre-election estimates of the experts.

Minor parties polled 386,253.

Actually, the total voter turnout was 224,931 higher than the vote for president. These 224,931 did not mark their ballots in the presidential column while voting for other offices. This group was big enough possibly to swing the election for Nixon, provided a big enough segment favored the vice president and their votes were spread through states where Kennedy won narrowly.

While his popular vote margin was the smallest since Democrat Grover Cleveland won by only 29,209 over Republican James G. Blained in 1884, Sen. Kennedy was assured of a comfortable electoral vote margin.

Unless the unexpected happens and some Kennedy-pledged Southern electors defect when the 537 electors cast their votes Monday, Kennedy will have 300 electoral votes in 22 states. Nixon will have 223 in 27 states, and 14 unpledged electors in Alabama and Mississippi will go to Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. At least 269 is required to elect.

Nixon—34,109,398

The others comprised 386,253 minor party votes and 116,248 for the winning unpledged elector slate in Mississippi, later pledged to Byrd.

Kennedy's percentage of the major party vote was 50.1 to Nixon's 49.9. The Massachusetts senator's percentage of the total vote, however, was only 49.7. Nixon's was 49.6 and others 0.7.

Thus, Kennedy will be the 14th president to poll less than half of the entire vote. Harry S. Truman and Woodrow Wilson were others in this century.

The revised program specifically exempts about 30,000 dependents who paid their own way and are living near their military menfolk.

The revised order also exempts dependents of foreign nationals in U.S. military forces. A Pentagon spokesman specifically cited in this category the families of Filipinos serving in the Navy and some Europeans — Germans, Austrians and others permitted to enlist under a special Act of Congress.

Another exemption from the ruling covers dependents who are non-Americans and are residing in the country of their citizenship.

New Cold Front Covers Midwest

By The Associated Press

A cold front, aided by strong gusty winds, spread over the middle of the continent Thursday.

It extended from northern Michigan into Texas. Midday temperatures in the teens or lower were reported from the Dakotas into Minnesota. Readings in the 20s extended from Iowa into Nebraska.

Elsewhere, temperatures in the 30s or 40s were reported in the South, except for 60s and 70s in Florida. Severe thunderstorms, however, were expected to bring hail and damaging winds into northern and central Florida.

Readings in the 20s and 30s were common from the North Atlantic states into the Great Lakes region as well as in the Rocky Mountain states, although there were lower readings at higher elevations.

Baudouin, Bride Honeymooning

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — King Baudouin and his radiant bride went off on their honeymoon Thursday night, leaving happy Belgians hoarse from cheering.

Within a matter of months, the nation had lost an empire but gained a queen. Belgians, for the moment, forgot the lost Congo. It was a time for dancing and laughter, a time to cry out: "Long live the king! Long live the queen!"

Far into the night, singers strolled the streets and citizens stood before the floodlit palace, trading impressions of a gala day and a great reunion of Europe's dwindling royalty.

For hours the citizens stood hoping for another glimpse of Baudouin and Queen Fabiola, but the royal couple apparently gave them the slip. A plane often used by the king flew off to Spain, supposedly with the couple aboard in accordance with an earlier announcement they were leaving for an undisclosed destination.

U. N. Control Of Congo Army Is Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —India and Yugoslavia were preparing a resolution Thursday night aimed at placing all Congolese military forces under command of the United Nations.

Diplomatic sources said the new proposal would be submitted to the U.N. General Assembly before it convenes Friday morning for debate on the Congo.

Other main points of the resolution called for immediate steps to reconvene the Congolese Parliament, and for release of all political prisoners. This would include deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba, being held for trial by the Congo army of Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo strongman.

Thursday the General Assembly's Budget Committee challenged the Soviet Union's adamant stand against paying any part of the costs for the U.N. Congo operation. This year's bill is estimated at $60 million.

In what amounted to a curtain-raiser for Friday's full-scale assembly session on all aspects of the Congo, the 99-nation committee voted 45-15 with 25 abstentions for a resolution to establish a special account to cover the 1960 U.N. Congo costs.

It contains a clause spelling out that all U.N. members are obligated legally to pay their assessed share.

It will take a two-thirds majority in the assembly to win approval. Fourteen nations were absent in the committee vote, and thus the assembly outcome was not assured.

The United States voted for the resolution, although it had insisted previously that the 1960 Congo costs be made a part of the regular U.N. budget subject to assessments.

A Polish amendment that would have deleted a key paragraph making the Congo costs a legal obligation was defeated 40 against, 27 for with 17 abstentions.

Moon Rocket Explodes Soon After Blastoff

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An Atlas-Able rocket designed to hurl a 388-pound moonlet 240,000 miles through space and place it in orbit around the moon exploded in the sky over Cape Canaveral Thursday a scant 8 to 12 miles from the launch site.

It was the final shot in a lunar probe program that cost the nation $35-million but brought only one partial success in eight tries.

The next lunar probe is at least six months away, and no American plan to orbit the moon exists in the foreseeable future.

Russia has not been able to orbit the moon, although it has two successful lunar probes to its credit.

The U.S. failures have mounted into a multi - million - dollar "jinx" which seems to center on the unwieldy looking Atlas-Able, a 10-story rocket shaped like a soft-drink bottle with a thin straw on top.

Four Atlas-Ables were built for moonshots. The first blew up on its pad and the next two disintegrated or misfired in the air.

Three Tots And Woman Found Slain

DETROIT (AP)—Three children and a woman were stabbed to death Thursday and police sought the mother of one of the dead youngsters in the mass slaying.

Police launched a search for Delores Martin, 26, after the body of her son, Daran, 3, was found stuffed in a chest in her bedroom.

A note in the woman's home led officers to the home of Mrs. Martin's brother, Lawrence, 28, where they found the man's wife, Virginia, 24, and their children, Wanda, 2, and Tony, 3, dead of stab wounds.

Officers said Mrs. Martin had been under the care of a psychiatrist for several months. They said the slayings were "very brutal."

The search for Mrs. Martin began when the woman's mother, Mary Wilks, 44, called to tell them she could not find Daran and her daughter had disappeared.

Swedish Princess Engaged To Prince

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The engagement of blonde, 23-year-old Princess Birgitta of Sweden to Prince Johann Georg of Hohenzollern, 28, was announced by the Swedish court Thursday. No date for the wedding was made public.

Bomber Tire Explodes Killing Two Airmen

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (UPI)—Two airmen were killed Thursday when a huge tire from a B52 Stratofortress jet bomber exploded minutes after they had removed it from the plane.

An Air Force spokesman said the tire, which measured 56 inches in diameter, blew up in the base tire shop.

Ike Gets Clean Bill Of Health

They reported after completing the annual head-to-toe examination of the President that his "general condition continues excellent."

The joint statement of Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Army surgeon general, and Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder also noted improvement in the President's chronic bronchitis, reported in the last annual examination, as well as in the bursitis of the left shoulder.

In nonmedical language, Eisenhower himself gave a report on his health.

As he left Walter Reed Army Hospital Thursday morning, bundled up in a heavy coat against the cold weather, he was asked by newsmen how he felt.

"Pretty good, fine," he replied.

He entered the hospital Tuesday night for the second phase of his annual physical checkup. The first phase of the examination had been conducted in mid-September.

Negro Turns Down Offer Of Kennedy Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy disclosed Thursday that he had asked a Negro, Rep. William Dawson of Illinois, to serve in his cabinet. But Dawson decided he would rather stay in Congress.

If the 74-year-old Democrat had accepted, he would have become the first Negro cabinet member in U.S. history.

Kennedy said he had asked Dawson to become postmaster general. After the offer was made last Tuesday, Dawson gave the matter "some reflection" and then decided to remain in the House.

"I regret that he will not be with us in the administration," Kennedy told reporters after making the surprise disclosure from the steps of his Georgetown home.

Dawson, one of the nation's top Negro politicians, said he felt he could best serve his country, his party and the state of Illinois by remaining in the House, Kennedy said.

The president-elect said he accepted Dawson's decision but expected to consult him on problems of government.

The president-elect did not get involved in the campaign furor over whether a Negro should be appointed to the cabinet, an issue that became explosive in the South after Henry Cabot Lodge said he thought the idea was a good one.

Kennedy confined himself to making a statement that he would choose his cabinet members on the basis of ability.

Jet Bomber Explodes; 10 Crewmen Escape

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP) — An $8 million B52D jet bomber, crippled in an aerial refueling accident, exploded and burned after an emergency landing Thursday. The 10 men aboard escaped. Only one was injured.

The bomber's left wing, punctured by the refueling boom of a KC135 jet tanker, collapsed as the eight-jet B52 rolled on the runway at Larson Air Force Base. The men scrambled out as crash crews rushed to their aid and the flames destroyed the bomber.

"They got out any way they could," said a Larson public information officer.

Final Official Vote Tabulations Give Kennedy 111,957 Plurality Over Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the closest presidential race in 76 years, Democrat John F. Kennedy scored a popular vote plurality of only 111,957 over Republican Richard M. Nixon in final official tabulations Thursday.

Little Rhode Island came through with its official vote to complete the 50-state total.

The total vote for president on Nov. 8 was 68,833,254. This was 6,804,195 over the previous record in 1956. The new figure far exceeded pre-election estimates of the experts.

Minor parties polled 386,253.

Actually, the total voter turnout was 224,931 higher than the vote for president. These 224,931 did not mark their ballots in the presidential column while voting for other offices. This group was big enough possibly to swing the election for Nixon, provided a big enough segment favored the vice president and their votes were spread through states where Kennedy won narrowly.

While his popular vote margin was the smallest since Democrat Grover Cleveland won by only 29,209 over Republican James G. Blained in 1884, Sen. Kennedy was assured of a comfortable electoral vote margin.

Unless the unexpected happens and some Kennedy-pledged Southern electors defect when the 537 electors cast their votes Monday, Kennedy will have 300 electoral votes in 22 states. Nixon will have 223 in 27 states, and 14 unpledged electors in Alabama and Mississippi will go to Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. At least 269 is required to elect.

Nixon—34,109,398

The others comprised 386,253 minor party votes and 116,248 for the winning unpledged elector slate in Mississippi, later pledged to Byrd.

Kennedy's percentage of the major party vote was 50.1 to Nixon's 49.9. The Massachusetts senator's percentage of the total vote, however, was only 49.7. Nixon's was 49.6 and others 0.7.

Thus, Kennedy will be the 14th president to poll less than half of the entire vote. Harry S. Truman and Woodrow Wilson were others in this century.

King Of Nepal Seizes Power

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — King Mahendra arrested popular Premier B. P. Koirala and other Cabinet ministers, suspended the constitution, and took over all powers in this Himalayan kingdom Thursday.

He accused the Koirala government of "failure to maintain law and order, harboring undesirable activity and killing the people's democratic aspirations." It was the first elected government in the nation's history.

Some informed sources said the king was concerned about the speed with which the ordinary powers of government had passed from the throne into Koirala's hands.

Atlanta Mayor Says His Telephone Call To Kennedy Affected Election Outcome

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) —Mayor William B. Hartsfield said Thursday his phone call to Sen. John F. Kennedy, now president-elect, on a late October afternoon sparked off Kennedy's intervention in the arrest of Negro integration leader Martin Luther King Jr.

"The high drama of it was that in 30 minutes time the whole outcome of the presidential race might have been affected right here in my office," the mayor added.

The New York Times said Wednesday President Eisenhower had expressed the view that Kennedy's call to King's wife had swung the Negro vote to the Democrats.

This was the way Hartsfield appraised the events which led directly to Kennedy's phone call and King's subsequent release from the Georgia state prison.

Following a wave of sit-in demonstrations in Atlanta which resulted in King's arrest, Hartsfield said he was meeting with some 70 Negro leaders at the City Hall to effect a truce.

The mayor added that Morris Abram, Atlanta attorney, came to his office during the conference and told him the national Kennedy organization had called him to express interest in the case.

Hartsfield said he then told the Negro leaders that Kennedy had expressed interest in a peaceful solution in the sit-in demonstrations and had also expressed a hope that King would be released.

"I knew the terrific national importance to Negroes of Kennedy's interest," Hartsfield added. "I phoned the Kennedy headquarters in Washington and told them I had expressed the senator's interest in King's release to the Negro leaders.

"At that time," Hartsfield said, "a prominent Negro Republican, John W. Calhoun, used a phone in my office to call the Nixon headquarters and pleaded with them to make a statement of interest on behalf of the vice president.

"Sen. Kennedy telephoned Mrs. King to express sympathy that King had been sent to jail. And Bobby (Kennedy) telephoned the judge and that did it."

After King's arrest on the sit-in demonstration charge, Judge Oscar Mitchell of Dekalb County revoked King's suspension of an earlier traffic violation sentence and sent him to jail for four months.

Robert Kennedy asked Mitchell if there were any constitutional bar to the posting of bail, and the demonstration charge was dropped and King released on $2,000 bond pending appeal.

Salisbury, Md., Radio Station Burned Out

Robert Doyle, station owner, said all equipment and supplies in the building were lost in the blaze. There was no immediate estimate of damages.

Truck Hits Car, House Trailer; Three Injured

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A young Emmitsburg, Md. couple and their infant son were seriously injured Thursday when a tractor-trailer slammed into their snowbound car and house trailer on U.S. 40.

Tpr. 1.C. Norman Burleson of the State Police said the car was pushed 100 feet and flattened to a height of about three feet.

Pulled from the wreckage and taken to Washington County Hospital here were Bobby P. Stanton, 20, his wife, Ellen, also 20, and their 5-month-old son, Michael.

The hospital said Stanton suffered a fractured spine and ribs, his wife had fractures of the leg, shoulder and pelvis and the baby suffered a possible fractured skull.

Burleson said the accident happened about 13 miles west of here on the east side of Fairview Mountain as two tow trucks were trying to free the Stanton car and trailer from a snow drift.

Burleson, who was at the scene directing traffic, said a coal truck came over the hill and was waved to the side. Then a tractor-trailer loaded with steel pilings came over the ridge and he tried to flag it down.

The trooper said the truck's brakes apparently failed and it hit the coal truck, one of the tow trucks and slammed into the car.

commodities, products that meet basic human needs.

"As long as two-thirds of the people of the world are hungry, the problem of our agricultural surplus is a world problem as well as a problem of the farm states of the midwest.

"As long as millions of Americans lack adequate standards of nutrition in their diet the problem of stored foodstuffs is more than one of storage costs to taxpayers and price supports to farmers, it is an integral part of our effort to improve consumption and distribution.

"As long as competent and efficient farmers, utilizing the scientific advances that have enormously increased our agricultural productivity, are unable to earn a fair return for their capital and labor we can have no sound and permanent health in our economy.

"We must have a positive and constructive approach to problems of agriculture."

Freeman set forth as goals:

1. Programs to insure enough food and fiber for all Americans.

2. Programs that will assure the efficient American family farm the opportunity to achieve parity of income, without exploiting either consumers or taxpayers.

3. "Programs to utilize our agricultural abundance to meet human needs here and abroad, as an instrument to encourage economic growth in underdeveloped areas of the world, and as one of our greatest weapons for peace — a weapon in which our superiority is unquestioned."

Fire Chief Plans To Set City Hall, School Ablaze

FONTANA, Calif. (UPI)—Fire Chief William Janka Thursday revealed he plans to set fire to the city hall and the Seville school.

Janka was authorized to burn the buildings after city councilmen learned it would be cheaper than hiring a wrecking crew.

Watermen Charge Byrd 'Misrepresented' Compact

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fifty-seven Maryland watermen, asking that they be allowed to participate in the Potomac Compact court case, Thursday accused Fisheries Chief H. C. Byrd of making "untruthful, guileful and deceptive statements" about the compact.

The watermen made the accusation in a petition to Baltimore Circuit Court. The court will hear arguments Dec. 28 on an attempt by five other Southern Maryland watermen to block the agreement setting up a Maryland - Virginia commission to regulate fishing and conservation in the Potomac River.

Filed by Baltimore lawyer Hyman A. Pressman, the petition refers to a letter mailed to watermen by Byrd, chairman of the Maryland Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

The letter was dated Nov. 4, four days before the election in which Marylanders voted to uphold their legislature in ratification of the compact.

The letter challenges a declaration by opponents of the compact that the agreement is a "give away" of the river, which belongs to Maryland to the low - water mark on the Virginia shore.

Byrd wrote watermen that the compact would require each state to put up $50,000 a year for rehabilitation of the river's resources, compared with no funds now allotted for this purpose.

The fisheries chairman also said the compact would give Maryland watermen equal footing with Virginians, who are now allowed by their laws—and Maryland's failure to get her sister state's acquiescence to more stringent laws—to take bigger rockfish and use longer fish nets than Marylanders.

Pressman's petition said the Byrd letter "misrepresented" the picture by also stating "the only matter covered in the compact is fishing rights" and that "Maryland in the compact gives up nothing."

Delegates To Parley On Aging Briefed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland's delegates to the White House Conference on the Aging Jan. 9-12 were told Thursday they are free agents, despite volumninous recommendations made on the state level.

The delegates attended a briefing session from members of the State Commission on the Aging in advance of their trip to Washington for the national session.

Del. Margaret C. Schweinhaut, D-Montgomery, chairman of the state commission, told the group it was very important that they read the state recommendations, representing "hundreds of people who attended our conferences."

"However," she said, "it is not the position of this commission that you are tied to these recommendations."

Running over a few of the recommendations which Mrs. Schweinhaut said were most important, she listed:

1. Flexible payment of Social Security, tied to the cost of living. "It came out of every single conference," she said.

2. Adequate Old Age Assistance payments. "At the present time they are not adequate or realistic," said Mrs. Schweinhaut.

3. An educational approach to employment of the aging, rather than a legislative approach. "At this point," she said, "an educational program should be pushed with all possible speed" and legislation may not be necessary.

The state legislator from Kensington also told the delegates that the announcement by Gov. Tawes Oct. 21 a year ago that age would play no part in State employment was most important.

"We feel this is something of a model," she said.

About a dozen or so persons attended the briefing session in addition to state commission members who also are delegates.

Bennett Fined $2,500 On Tax Evasion Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Robert P. Bennett, 49-year-old president of a Frederick electronics company, and a former associate pleaded no defense Thursday to charges of evading income taxes.

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen fined Bennett $2,500 and put him on probation for three years on one indictment. He delayed sentence on the other until the outcome of a civil suit by the government to recover the taxes.

Paul L. Willard, formerly Bennett's accountant who now lives in Marietta, Ga. was fined $1,000 on one count and $1 on another.

The government had virtually completed its evidence against the two defendants when they interrupted the proceeding to plead nolo contendre.

The trial started Tuesday before Judge Thomsen and a jury.

Bennett was charged specifically with under estimating his income by $24,854 in 1953 and 1954 to evade paying $6,062 in taxes.

The government claimed most of the income Bennett failed to report came as the result of a chemical explosion at his plant in 1953.

The prosecutor said Bennett was paid $18,000 by an insurance company for material exposed to sulphuric acid fumes. Bennett then bought the same material for $2,000 through a broker and sold it back to his own company for $29,000, the government claimed.

It also said that he had an employe buy two surplus machines from the Air Force for $75 and Bennett sold them to his company for $8,700.

Tuberculosis Cases Increase In State

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Tuberculosis Association has reported the disease is on the increase in the state.

Lucien E. D. Gaudreau, association president, said that 1,442 cases have been reported in Maryland since last Jan. 1. Of these, 761 cases were in Baltimore. The total represents an increase of 39 cases over last year.

Outside of Baltimore, the highest incidence was in Montgomery, Prince Georges, Anne Arundel and Baltimore counties.

Gaudreau noted that Maryland has the sixth highest TB death rate of the states, and the eighth highest case rate.

Ruling On State Training School Race Issue Asked

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The Board of Managers of the state's four correctional institutions for minors and the State Board of Public Welfare Thursday asked the Court of Appeals to rule on constitutionality of the statute establishing the homes as segregated institutions.

The Attorney General asked the high court to overturn a Baltimore City Circuit Court decision declaring applicable sections of the law to be unconstitutional.

Judge Charles E. Moylan of the Baltimore court said the contested parts of the statute violate both the equal rights and due process clauses of the 14th amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

The sections in question establish Maryland Training School for white male minors, Boys' Village for colored male minors, Barrett School for colored female minors, and Montrose for white female minors.

The suit was brought on behalf of Robert Myers, a 13-year-old Negro boy, by his mother and next friend, Mae Coleman. The youth was adjudged a delinquent child by Baltimore Circuit Court on Oct. 29, 1959 and ordered committed to a public training school for delinquent minors.

A motion was filed on his behalf that he be committed to the Maryland Training School for white boys, rather than to boys' village for colored boys.

He alleged the Maryland Training School could provide him with better rehabilitation and training than Boys Village.

The state argued, in briefs filed here, that the 14th amendment does not prohibit discrimination per se, but rather the prohibition of the equal protection clause goes no further than "individious discrimination."

The state also argued the Supreme Court has, in effect, said there are some classifications based solely on race which are constitutionally valid."

The state also alleged that while educational courses are offered at the correctional institutions, they are not a part of the state's public education system as had been held by the lower court.

15th Polio Case

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Baltimore County's 15th polio case of the year has been reported by Dr. William H. F. Warthen, county health officer.

The county had two polio cases during the corresponding period of 1959.

Compensation Award Upheld

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A circuit judge Thursday upheld a $4,100 workmen's compensation award to a city employe who was shot and wounded by a deranged fellow worker.

Judge D. K. McLaughlin approved the award in the shooting of Dan Sterling, reservoir superintendent for the Hagerstown water department.

Sterling was wounded in the leg two years ago by Paul Martin, who then shot himself to death.

The judge ruled that the city should pay Sterling because it had evidence that Martin was mentally unstable and Sterling was placed in danger by being required to work with him.

The city had appealed to the court from a ruling by the Maryland Workmen's Compensation Commission.

NEW YORK (AP)—Optimism is inching up in Wall Street on the basis of the stock market's recent behavior.

There are predictions that a late December advance will lap over into the new year.

Eldon A. Grimm of the brokerage firm, Walston & Co., said that obviously the year-end rally is under way and buyers are pinning their hopes on a business upturn sometime by mid-1961.

The impact of tax selling seemed to come early this year and prices are rebounding from an oversold position, he said.

"The odd lot—transactions of less than 100 shares—are certainly bllish," Grimm added. "For example, on Friday, odd lot purchases were 344,313 shares but odd lot sales were 402,335 shares. When the odd lots are on the sell side that is supposed to indicate a higher market ahead."

Indianapolis analyst E. George Schaefer comments that the market's stubborn refusal to test the Oct. 25 lows, its strong technical position and its bullish action point up the thoroughly sold out condition and the probability of a major advance.

Discussing the dwindling tax-selling pressure, he says: "I think there is certainly too little force left in the economic purging process to prevent the market from staging a moderate year-end rally that will have as its greatest value the realignment of investor confidence in preparation for truly dramatic gains in 1961."

American railroads derive 15 per cent of their total freight revenue from coal traffic.

"Serious Loss"

MANCHESTER, Eng. (UPI) — Prof. A.C.B. Lovell, head of Britain's Jodrell Bank radio observatory, said Thursday the failure of the U.S. moonshot was "a serious loss to science." Lovell, who had been standing by to track the U.S. moon probe, said it would have been extremely difficult to put the probe into close orbit round the moon.

The largest seeds are those of the double cocoanut. They hit about 40 pounds.

Governors Wager Dinners On Bowl Game

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Gov. David L. Lawrence Wednesday accepted the challenge of Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon to "a lobster dinner opposite an Oregon salmon" on the outcome of the Liberty Bowl game, which pits Penn State against Oregon State Saturday in Philadelphia.

Lawrence answered a telegram from Hatfield: "I have no concern as to arranging a suitable place for meeting my obligation, since I anticipate a resounding victory next Saturday in Philadelphia."

Hatfield offered to supply Oregon salmon dinners for the governor, his guests and the University of Oregon team. He said his pre-legislative duties would keep him from attending the game.

At a news conference Wednesday, Lawrence, a sports fan, predicted the Nittany Lions will "continue the great string of Pennsylvania sports victories."

Rebel Volunteers

CAIRO (UPI)—Algerian Moslem rebel official Mabrouk Belhocine said Wednesday that volunteers "from Arab and other friendly countries" are being trained and sent to Algeria. Belhocine, assistant under-secretary for foreign affairs in the rebel exile government, refused to elaborate on the volunteers on grounds of "military secrecy."

"Serious Loss"

MANCHESTER, Eng. (UPI) — Prof. A.C.B. Lovell, head of Britain's Jodrell Bank radio observatory, said Thursday the failure of the U.S. moonshot was "a serious loss to science." Lovell, who had been standing by to track the U.S. moon probe, said it would have been extremely difficult to put the probe into close orbit round the moon.

The largest seeds are those of the double cocoanut. They hit about 40 pounds.

Governors Wager Dinners On Bowl Game

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Gov. David L. Lawrence Wednesday accepted the challenge of Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon to "a lobster dinner opposite an Oregon salmon" on the outcome of the Liberty Bowl game, which pits Penn State against Oregon State Saturday in Philadelphia.

Lawrence answered a telegram from Hatfield: "I have no concern as to arranging a suitable place for meeting my obligation, since I anticipate a resounding victory next Saturday in Philadelphia."

Hatfield offered to supply Oregon salmon dinners for the governor, his guests and the University of Oregon team. He said his pre-legislative duties would keep him from attending the game.

At a news conference Wednesday, Lawrence, a sports fan, predicted the Nittany Lions will "continue the great string of Pennsylvania sports victories."

Rebel Volunteers

CAIRO (UPI)—Algerian Moslem rebel official Mabrouk Belhocine said Wednesday that volunteers "from Arab and other friendly countries" are being trained and sent to Algeria. Belhocine, assistant under-secretary for foreign affairs in the rebel exile government, refused to elaborate on the volunteers on grounds of "military secrecy."

Soviet Union Has More Submarines Than All Rest Of World, Jane's Says

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI) — Russia has amassed more submarines than all the rest of the world, including at least a half dozen atomic subs built or being built, the authoritative "Jane's Fighting Ships" said Wednesday.

The Soviet submarine program, naval experts said, was based on a strategy, should war come, of setting out to sweep the seas clear of shipping and starve America's NATO allies into submission.

The new edition of Jane's, the "bible" of world naval power, placed the number of Soviet submarines at between 450-500, including at least six nuclear-powered and six guided missile undersea craft either built or under construction.

It said the United States has 173 submarines, 17 of them nuclear - powered and with 3 equipped to launch missiles.

The United States has 38 nuclear subs built or under construction, with a goal of 75 operational nuclear subs planned by 1967. Of these, said Jane's 45 would be ballistic missile submarines.

In a grim foreword to the 63rd edition published Wednesday, editor Raymond Blackman underlined that little more than one fifth of the number of submarines Russia possesses in World War II was "enough to bring the United Kingdom to the brink of starvation, not only as regards food but as regards the vital raw materials necessary to prosecute the war."

Blackman's estimate of Russia's nuclear submarine program went beyond that announced last week by the "institute of strategic studies" which said Russia had atomic submarines.

With his respected sources of information, editor Blackman denounced as "ostrich-like" the attitude in some quarters that such craft are at present beyond Russian capabilities.

He pointed to the success of the Soviet nuclear-powered icebreaker vessel "Lenin" — the size of a cruiser — from which, said Blackman, "Soviet naval architecs, marine engineers and nuclear physicist must have gained the required technical and scientific data for application to submarines.

"It is also probably wishful thinking to deny the existence of Soviet submarines capable of firing guided missiles," he said. "What is perhaps more open to doubt is whether they can be fired submerged and whether they have a range as long as that of the (American submarine) Polaris projectile.

"But it would be unwise to assume, especially in view of the Soviet success in astral rocketry, that the U.S.S.R. is any less capable than other nations in the field of hydrodynamic (underwater) rocketry."

The genealogies of the Chinese have always surpassed those of all other races in age and coverage.

Honored at the Pentagon ceremony were Cmdr. Leroy A. Heath (left), the plane's pilot, awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, and Lt. Henry L. Corporation Profits Show Steep Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Corporate profits fell sharply to a two year low during the summer, substantially reducing the possibility of a surplus in the federal budget this year.

Profits before taxes dropped in July-August-September to a yearly rate of $41.5 billion, the Commerce Department reported Wednesday. This was a steep decline from the $45.7 billion rate of the proceeding three months.

When translated into federal tax revenues, the drop probably means a decline in income of $1 billion or more from the estimated $81.5 billion total for the current budget year.

Assuming federal spending holds to the projected $80.4 billion the indicated surplus of $1.06 billion could be virtually wiped out.

Nation's Steel Output Fell During November

NEW YORK (UPI)—Steel production in November fell below both October and November 1959, the American Iron & Steel Institute reported Wednesday.

November production totaled 6,167,000 net tons of ingots and steel for castings compared with 6,868,380 net tons in October and 7,267,607 tons in the year ago month.

Output for the first eleven months of 1960 totaled 93,436,820 tons, the sixth highest for any comparable period, the institute said. It was 14.7 per cent higher than the 81,456,813 tons produced in the 1959 period, when production was held down by the nationwide steel strike.

Hatmakers In Battle For Kennedy Topper

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's hatmakers are engaged in a down-to-the-wire battle for the usually uncovered head of President-elect John F. Kennedy—they want to cover it with a high silk topper on Inauguration Day.

As of Wednesday, the leading contender for the honor appears to be John Reinitz, Inc. of New York, which has been commissioned by the John B. Stetson Co. to design a silk hat that Stetson hopes will crown the presidential head on Jan. 20.

Reinitz's vice president, Mario Plastino, says his designer, Hyman Gelfer, has an edge over William Schnautz of the Norwalk, Conn., plant of the Hat Corp. of America, who also is in the running.

Kennedy will decide the contest himself when he tries on both the Reinitz and Hat Corp. hats for fit.

Science And You

LISTENING

Children taught to be good listeners are likely to become good spouses, parents, leaders and companions.

So says Prof. Wendell Johnson, speech authority of the State University of Iowa, who calls effective listening an art and a main means of learning. Principal faults in our listening habits, he adds, are we listen too much in a self-defensive way, fearful the speaker may disturb our accustomed attitudes and beliefs; we pay too much attention to the speaker and his symbols of authority, or lack of them; we translate his language into the language we would use to say what we think he is saying.

SPACE SERVICE

Making repairs on a manned space ship when something goes wrong would be like "performing a heart operation on a running athlete." Time would be precious, and no mistakes permissible, says Halim Ozkaptan, research psychologist at Republic Aviation Corp.

Astronauts can't land for repairs, or summon a serviceman. And knowing they had to act quickly and precisely might be a psychological handicap affecting their reactions.

So Ozkaptan suggests establishing robot service stations located on earth. The stations would have electronic computers containing, in advance, all details about all oprations of the space ship. They could make quick diagnosis of the trouble from clues radioed by the astronauts, then give instructions for repairs, or would tell the crew to bail out aboard emergency escape craft.

EXTRA HEAD

Having two heads rather than one leads to faster learning, at least among flatworms.

Flatworms have remarkable powers of regeneration, so Edward N. Ernhart, Washington University psychologist, created two-headed worms by surgically dividing the worm's head and letting two develop.

Subjected to a learning test to respond to an electric shock when a light was turned on, the two-headed flatworms "learned" faster because they had more total brain, or because they had four eye spots and could perceive light better. A relative of the tapeworm, flatworms are one-half to one-quarter inch long, and have a very simple brain and nervous system.

Hoover, Truman, Ike May Meet In Iowa

DES MOINES (UPI)—Three ex-presidents may visit Iowa next summer to participate in the dedication of the Herbert Hoover birthplace and library at West Branch, Iowa.

W. B. Anderson, president of the Herbert Hoover Birthplace Foundation Society, indicated on Wednesday that work at the site should be completed by late spring. He hoped to have a dedication ceremony which would include Hoover, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman.

Anderson said he was not ready to set a date for the ceremony, but noted that Hoover's birthday is Aug. 10.

LISTENING

Children taught to be good listeners are likely to become good spouses, parents, leaders and companions.

So says Prof. Wendell Johnson, speech authority of the State University of Iowa, who calls effective listening an art and a main means of learning. Principal faults in our listening habits, he adds, are we listen too much in a self-defensive way, fearful the speaker may disturb our accustomed attitudes and beliefs; we pay too much attention to the speaker and his symbols of authority, or lack of them; we translate his language into the language we would use to say what we think he is saying.

SPACE SERVICE

Making repairs on a manned space ship when something goes wrong would be like "performing a heart operation on a running athlete." Time would be precious, and no mistakes permissible, says Halim Ozkaptan, research psychologist at Republic Aviation Corp.

Astronauts can't land for repairs, or summon a serviceman. And knowing they had to act quickly and precisely might be a psychological handicap affecting their reactions.

So Ozkaptan suggests establishing robot service stations located on earth. The stations would have electronic computers containing, in advance, all details about all oprations of the space ship. They could make quick diagnosis of the trouble from clues radioed by the astronauts, then give instructions for repairs, or would tell the crew to bail out aboard emergency escape craft.

EXTRA HEAD

Having two heads rather than one leads to faster learning, at least among flatworms.

Flatworms have remarkable powers of regeneration, so Edward N. Ernhart, Washington University psychologist, created two-headed worms by surgically dividing the worm's head and letting two develop.

Subjected to a learning test to respond to an electric shock when a light was turned on, the two-headed flatworms "learned" faster because they had more total brain, or because they had four eye spots and could perceive light better. A relative of the tapeworm, flatworms are one-half to one-quarter inch long, and have a very simple brain and nervous-system.

Raytheon Contract

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI)—Raytheon Co. has received a $5,200,000 contract to produce and install nine additional long range radars for the Federal Aviation Agency's nationwide air traffic control network.

Holiday Shutdown

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. Thursday announced most of its plants will be shut down during the holiday season for periods of up to two weeks. The company said all but 4,400 of Chrysler's 23,500 production workers will be affected by the shutdown from Dec. 23 to Jan. 9.

Hoover, Truman, Ike May Meet In Iowa

DES MOINES (UPI)—Three ex-presidents may visit Iowa next summer to participate in the dedication of the Herbert Hoover birthplace and library at West Branch, Iowa.

W. B. Anderson, president of the Herbert Hoover Birthplace Foundation Society, indicated on Wednesday that work at the site should be completed by late spring. He hoped to have a dedication ceremony which would include Hoover, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman.

Anderson said he was not ready to set a date for the ceremony, but noted that Hoover's birthday is Aug. 10.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Want to beef up your efficiency in the kitchen?

Paul Hartley, a colorist and teacher of art, said in an interview that such color therapy, applied in his own kitchen, improved efficiency — and even created a mood making for songfests at dish-washing time.

Hartley, of Westport, Con., has written three books on painting, including one for the housewife. It's called "how to beautify your home with color." His latest contribution for the homemaker is an art course — correspondence type — for women wanting to learn how to handle colors via oil painting.

"Until you paint," Hartley said, 'you don't know how color works on your mind. Professional artists know color affects and even tattles on personality."

He figures the red works well in kitchens because it is "the most exciting color."

"Because it's so exciting," he said, "some department stores prohibit sales girls from wearing red clothes."

"Orange, meanwhile is the color of self satisfaction. Blue is the color of greatest calm. Green is a tranquilizing color. Violet is a color of mystery, the unknown — like royalty. Very few people are comfortable in a room that's done in violet."

Hartley said the lack of color—gray — is a sign of wanting to conform so much that you're hardly noticed.

"Men who wear gray to business, for example," he said, "want the boss to know they're not bucking the current. But turn these same men loose over the weekend and they go slightly nuts — breaking out in bright colors."

The artist has been brushing up on color lore for 40 years. After retiring as the art director of a New York advertising agency, he served two and one half years with the famous artists school.

For the last four years, he's been working on a course for beginning artists, fashioning it for the homemaker with time on her hands.

"She's the woman whose children are away from home — either at school or married," he said.

Hartley said color mastery is the backbone of his course.

"Once a woman knows how to handle color," he said, "she can be more confident about being creative when it comes to thinking out color schemes for her home and wardrobe."

Cards Feature Works Of Great Artists, Poets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Works of great religious art and verses by the best poets of the past and present are reproduced on Christmas cards this year, making this perhaps the most "classic" Christmas in history.

New stylized designs and the fashionable new off-pastel colors also appear on Christmas cards. Far from the simple reds and greens of years gone by, the new colors include pinks and delicate blue., as well as rich gold and silver. Intricate cutouts and detailed embossing also are a mark of new cards this year, along with such things as three-dimensional foldouts that harken back to before the turn of the century.

The reverence and inner beauty of Christmas are perhaps best expressed in a fine arts collection being offered for the first time through the cooperation of Albert Skira of Geneva, Switzerland, world leader in the graphic arts.

The collection includes 50 masterpieces of religious art gathered in museums and private collections in Europe and the United States. Skira prepared the reproductoin on his fine color presses at Geneva, and Hallmark mounted the prints on Christmas cards. It is the first time Skira prints have appeared on greeting cards, either here or abroad, and reflects the growing popularity of religious Christmas cards.

Artists represented include such masters as Da Vince, Rembrandt, El Greco, Botticelli, Fra Angelico, Giotto and Holbein.

Do-It-Yourself Trend In Form Of Kits Invades Toy World

By RALPH VILLERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Who said the do-it-yourself trend was for grownups? Look how it's invading the toy world, especially in toys for budding scientists.

Some of the new kits are so complicated only a child would tackle them — Dad would be left in a state of confusion if he tried.

Or, there's a kit for building a battery-powered model of an Allison turbo-jet engine. Other kits take the Air Age from the day of the 1911 Curtiss pusher plane up to jets with powered models.

There's a "whole new world" of kits to build hot rods and racing cars, complete with motors, says the Toy Guidance Council. For those who like their hot-rods prebuilt, there are two different race tracks — one battery powered, the other run by a model train transformer — in which two cars race around a figure-eight track. They skid and crash just as in a real race.

There are more new things for under the tree than you would imagine, that is unless you've been listening to the kids — they know.

Instruments Landing On Moon Predicted

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) —A British astronomer predicted Wednesday that man would land instruments on the moon within the next year.

Dr. J. F. Davies, of the Jodrell Bank Observatory, said that a "soft" landing of instruments probably will be attempted in 1961.

If a man lands in the moon "it will be helpful for him to know what he will find," he said.

Davis will help track the moon shot the United States plans to launch this week.

Post Office Reports Christmas Mailing Up Sharply

The Post Office Wednesday had its first 100,000-cancellation day of the Christmas season, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon announced yesterday.

The quantity of both letters and parcel post has increased Conlon said, adding that the volume has resulted in the first extra clerks and carriers being called out to work.

Cancellations Wednesday totaled 106,300, the postmaster stated, adding that the figure was in excess of the total for the corresponding date last year, when 100,300 cancellations were processed.

The heavy snow over the weekend caused a delay in the delivery here of parcel post from eastern points. Tractor-trailers have been hauling parcel post here from Baltimore on morning and evening schedules, Conlon explained, adding that none of the vehicles were able to negotiate the highways for a 48-hour period.

The parcel post schedules were resumed Tuesday and extra clerks have been called out to assist with the sorting and re-routing work.

Cancellations were lagging behind last year's total as of the first of the week, the postmaster said. Through Monday, the daily totals from the start of the Christmas mailing season amounted to 261,300, while for the comparable period last year the total was 310,800. On Monday, the cancellations totaled 51,500.

Since then, the handle here has surged ahead of last year's totals. There were 83,200 cancellations on Tuesday, compared to 25,600 on the same date last year.

Wednesday's volume placed cancellations for the season at 450,800, while the total handled through last December 14 was 436,700.

A number of extra carriers were called out yesterday to assist with the delivery, with Postmaster Conlon stating that more will be called as the volume increases.

The constitution of the Irish Free State was adopted in 1922.

TOKYO (UPI)—The newspaper Mainichi Daily News Thursday urged the United States and the Soviet Union to leave Laos alone. "We do not see any reason why both sides have to meddle with the domestic affairs of Laos," it said. "A neutral Laos cannot be a threat to either camp."

There are believed to be only three copies of Noah Webster's first American dictionary extant.

Sets New Record

LONDON (UPI) — British steel production set new records in November and indications were that steel imports would be cut sharply it was announced Thursday. The British mills, working at 95 per cent capacity, turned out 504,500 tons a week during the month. The year's total will exceed 24 million tons, officials said.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Try to bring out the best in everyone who works for you.

Sincerity Succeeds In A Career

I happened to be in the office of a woman executive recently when a new file clerk came in hesitantly with a requested file. I found out right then and there why this woman is said to bring out the best in everyone who works for her, and why her praises are sung far and wide.

She looked up at the young girl with a twinkling smile and said warmly, "I'm glad you're with us, Carol. Thank you very much."

What she said was unusual, but it was unmistakeably sincere. And the words were said so simply it was obvious that a spontaneous expression of appreciation seemed to the speaker the most natural thing in the world.

It isn't natural enough for most of us. How many times have you thought something nice about someone in the past few days, and haven't mentioned it?

Flattery, of course, risks your being thought insincere. But to say good things simply and gracefully when you are really thinking them is quite different. You can learn no better lesson than to put an honest, generous thought into words—words which will encourage and cheer someone around you.

Every one of us wants to be liked and appreciated and welcome everywhere. We can't help but be egoists enough to think the person is charming who makes us feel we are, if this is done sincerely and with taste.

Sledding Popular Sport In City

Sledriding is continuing on designated streets in the city and the Recreation Department reported another good crowd last night.

C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, announced one change in streets which have been earmarked for sledding. Sylvan Avenue has been removed from the list. In its place, Shawnee Avenue, from Piedmont Avenue to Franklin Street, has been added.

Department officials said sledding will be available as long as the weather lasts.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Try to bring out the best in everyone who works for you.

Sincerity Succeeds In A Career

I happened to be in the office of a woman executive recently when a new file clerk came in hesitantly with a requested file. I found out right then and there why this woman is said to bring out the best in everyone who works for her, and why her praises are sung far and wide.

She looked up at the young girl with a twinkling smile and said warmly, "I'm glad you're with us, Carol. Thank you very much."

What she said was unusual, but it was unmistakeably sincere. And the words were said so simply it was obvious that a spontaneous expression of appreciation seemed to the speaker the most natural thing in the world.

It isn't natural enough for most of us. How many times have you thought something nice about someone in the past few days, and haven't mentioned it?

Flattery, of course, risks your being thought insincere. But to say good things simply and gracefully when you are really thinking them is quite different. You can learn no better lesson than to put an honest, generous thought into words—words which will encourage and cheer someone around you.

Every one of us wants to be liked and appreciated and welcome everywhere. We can't help but be egoists enough to think the person is charming who makes us feel we are, if this is done sincerely and with taste.

Sledding Popular Sport In City

Sledriding is continuing on designated streets in the city and the Recreation Department reported another good crowd last night.

C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, announced one change in streets which have been earmarked for sledding. Sylvan Avenue has been removed from the list. In its place, Shawnee Avenue, from Piedmont Avenue to Franklin Street, has been added.

Department officials said sledding will be available as long as the weather lasts.

Particularly Italian bread.

With all our streamlining we Americans have never made a bread with the earthy goodness of a real Italian loaf.

To do it, you have to slow down the clock. And that's what we did with 'taliano—a bread that's actually aged a bit, after mixing, like a fine wine . . . then slow-baked in a hearth.

Try it toasted. Ah, she is so good. So very, very good.

Death Of Singer Recalls Memories

News of the death of John Charles Thomas in Apple Valley, Calif., stirred the memory of many residents of Mt. Savage, and members of Mt. Savage Methodist Church in particular, according to Rev. William C. Harpold, pastor.

His father, the late Rev. Milson Thomas, was pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Mt. Savage from 1900 to 1905, at the time John Charles was entering his teens. Many of the older members recall that he was "all boy," and some say, a little more mischievous than the ordinary boy, perhaps because he was a minister's son, and had to do things to overcome the appellation of "preacher's kid."

John Charles' splendid voice is remembered by the older villagers, together with that of his father and mother. In the Memoirs of Reverend Milson Thomas, following his death on June 21, 1935, this tribute is paid to their singing:

"Nature had richly endowed Brother Thomas with an extraordinary voice. He was a beautiful singer. Mrs. Thomas was likewise a gifted singer, and her voice supplementing his, made his ministry very effective in every charge he served. One of the major blessings of their life was to have a son who inherited this gift. His renown is worldwide. His voice, carried to the far corners of the earth by radio, concluding invaribly with his "Goodnight Mother", has warmed the hearts of many and brought satisfying reward to these faithful itinerants of the cross."

John Charles Thomas was a member, with his father, of the Methodist Church Choir, for which his mother played. So far as church records disclose, there is but one remaining member of that choir, Mrs. Matilda G. Kirby, of Calla Hill, Mt. Savage. Another member, Edward N. Deffenbaugh died last October 31. Mr. Deffenbaugh who continued to correspond with John Charles Thomas throughout the years, spoke often of singing with John Charles and the late Earl Lewis in trios at church services.

In January, when the Methodist Church was honoring Miss Lola Lewis after 55 years as choir member and organist, a telegram was received from John Charles Thomas, commending her for her faithful work in the church.

Disarmament Mirage And The Deterrents

Many thoughtful men of the free world have reached the conclusions that the hope of averting a terrible war at some future date does not rely upon disarmament and that the goal of disarmament itself should no longer be considered.

They have reached these conclusions not because they do not want to see a removal of powerful weapons of destruction, but because even the achievement of a nuclear disarmament pact could somehow be guaranteed would be meaningless in light of today's military power.

When considering the burgeoning arsenal of non-nuclear weapons and the fantastic race proceeding unchecked in many fields of armament it seems futile to continue the years-long hassle over nuclear disarmament and inspection guarantees. If success were achieved at some future date in the prohibition of nuclear weapons, would opposing leaders then begin talks to ban missiles, earth satellites, intercontinental bombers and chemical warfare agents?

These latter, in particular, are little known by the public. But they have progressed to the point where generals of a future conflict will have the choice of killing outright entire populations of metropolitan areas by noiseless, unannounced bacteria or chemical gas invasion, or simply paralyzing the enemy's defenses.

Defenses which have been perfected against nuclear weapons and the very real possibility that retaliatory weapons would be even more destructive have all but rendered atomic and hydrogen bombs obsolete.

Realization that no peace guarantees will emerge from the abolition of one part of a weapon spectrum is the first step toward development of a more realistic approach to peace insurance. The very circumstance that the age of nuclear warfare has come and largely gone without its aggressive employment is strong testimony to the peace guarantees of a continually developing retaliatory system.

Most Traveled Member Of Ike's Cabinet Is Agriculture Secretary

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The most internationally traveled member of the President's Cabinet isn't Secretary Herter who handles foreign problems but Secretary of Agriculture Benson who is supposed to handle farm problems here at home.

On his frequent farm forays overseas, he usually takes along members of his family. Their travel bill, of course, has been paid by the taxpayers.

The Bensons have barnstormed through 42 countries since 1955, going back for revisits to many. They have toured more foreign cities than farms, including such unlikely agriculture centers as Paris, Rome, Madrid, Moscow, Athens, Cairo, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Rio de Janeiro, and Buenos Aires.

Benson's power to commandeer a government plane for overseas flights will come to an end next month. Possibly with this in mind, he has taken his family on three hasty trips abroad in the past four months.

He just got back from an 18-day trip to the Far East with his wife, daughter Beverly, daughter Barbara, and Barbara's husband, Dr. Robert Walker.

They stopped at Salt Lake City (Benson's home town), Honolulu, Tokyo, Taipei, Manila, Sydney, Wellington, and a place called Nandi in the Fiji Islands.

Latin America In October

Benson reported back to the President that all was well from Tokyo to the Fijis, except for some concern over President-elect Kennedy's "position with respect to Red China."

"It made us proud as Americans," Benson added, "to find with what respect, for example, we are held in Japan"—where hostile mobs a few months earlier barred Ike from making a scheduled visit.

During October, the Benson family made a 13-day swing through Latin America. Accompanying the Secretary on this junket were his wife, son Reed, daughter Bonnie, and daughter-in-law May.

Again Benson came back brimming with optimism. He saw "little indication" that Latin Americans are "ready to compromise their hopes and aspirations on the false promises of either Castroism or Communism.

"Latin America today," he assured the President, "is flexing its muscles in the direction of greater enterprise and greater freedom in emulation of the American dream."

Hardly had Benson filed this cheerful report than Castroites attempted to overthrow the governments of Nicaragua, Guatemala and Venezuela. Also Brazil's President-elect Janio Quadros, who had made a pilgrimage to Havana to see Castro, spurned invitations to visit President Eisenhower and President-elect Kennedy, went to London instead, while Brazilian Vice President Goulart went to Moscow.

In August, Benson took his wife and daughter Beverly on a 17-day safari through Europe and the Middle East. He was also cheerful about these areas upon his return.

Expensive Trips

The cost of the private airplane alone for these three lame-duck junkets is estimated at $124,655.50.

In 1959, Benson flew to Russia with his wife and two daughters, Beverly and Bonnie.

"We will not soon forget," he reported to the President, "the tear-stained faces and fervent hopes of some 1,500 Russian Christians who sang 'God Be With You Till We Meet Again' as we were leaving Moscow."

He stayed home two weeks, then took off around the world in the late President Roosevelt's old plane, the "Sacred Cow." The airplane cost for these two trips was $56,788.95.

No one in Washington would challenge Benson's basic integrity. In fairness, it should be reported that he conferred with agriculture officials in all the countries he visited, except Hong Kong in 1957.

"The President encouraged me to take members of my family," Benson explained to this column. "It hasn't been easy as Mrs. Benson will testify. At times I have had to persuade and encourage my family members to get them to go."

It was also the President's idea that he visit all countries with which the United States has foreign trade, he said.

The three hurried trips before his term expires did not produce any trade agreements, he acknowledged. However, he felt that he had "plowed the ground."

Dollar-Go-Round

Military dependents, who are being shipped home to reduce dollar spending overseas, have threatened in letters home to retaliate against the Republicans at the polls next chance they get. Their ballots flooded in from overseas last month in a pro-Nixon tide which swung California to Nixon and reduced Kennedy's popular margin. Thousands have now complained that they would never have voted for Nixon if President Eisenhower had issued his send-dependents-home order before the election . . . Actually dependents spent only a fraction of the amount invested by U. S. firms overseas last year . . . American tourists also left a wider trail of greenbacks around the world. They spent $2,400,000,000 abroad last year as compared with only $900,000,000 brought into the USA by foreign visitors . . . A. J. Rome, vice president of Riddle Airlines, has a plan for reversing the dollar flow. By setting up cheap charter flights, he believes thousands of tourists can be attracted to the United States . . . Biggest bottleneck: The State Department's obsolete visa restrictions have made foreigners feel they aren't wanted in America. By cutting out the red tape, the United States could open the floodgates to foreign tourism . . . Our new restrictions on dollar spending in Japan, Premier Ikeda has warned privately, may force Japan to trade with Communist China.

The Tragedy Of Algiers: A Study In Folly

By Joseph Alsop

ALGIERS

In this tragic city, like a giant hornets' nest that has been poked by a fool, one is driven to reflect on the powers of unreason in the affairs of men. Men and women have died here, and solely because so many people have been angrily biting off their noses to spite their faces.

As these words are written, it is not clear whether the end of the tragedy is in sight, this reporter believes, or whether many more have yet to die. Enough has happened, in any case, to make one wish to join the rather special political party of the heroine of the Greek wartime resistance who once announced she was an "extreme centrist." On being asked what this meant, she replied crisply, with an air of stern purpose:

"The extreme centrists are the sensible people like me, who would like to shoot everyone on the extreme right and the extreme left."

The trouble in Algiers began with the young fools who were sent to shout their heads off on the Rue Michelet by the older fools of the Front of Algerie Francaise. The idea — and what an idea! — was either to undermine the French army's loyalty or to intimidate Gen. de Gaulle himself. The effect was to reduce, quite measurably, the chance that the French people in Algeria will be able to play their necessary role in this unhappy country's future.

The silly shouting on the Rue Michelet led by imperceptible stages to sporadic conflict between the French and Moslem communities. The Moslem hotheads, whose people have everything to gain by calm, began their own bout of shouting and flag waving. Many died. And a yet deeper gulf was opened between the two communities, which must somehow manage to work together if the Algeria of the future is to work at all.

It is not especially consoling that the vast majorities of both communities have quite visibly regarded the whole business as a nightmare. In no group, it seems, are the members of the great, relatively reasonable mass willing to make the efforts to control "their own s. o. b.'s" in the old, coarse but accurate phrase.

For consolation, in fact, one can only recall vignettes of recent days, which prove that the folly of the mass does not always infect all the individuals in the mass.

In their excited voices, one caught a glimmer of hope for Gen. de Gaulle's great bet on eventual peace in Algeria. In the little policeman in the Clos de Salembier this morning, one caught a glimmer of hope for the human race. This is a poor quarter, where there had been communal conflict ending in the flight of the Europeans the night before.

Truckloads of French paratroopers, just about the finest troops in the Western world but not the most polished politicians, were going into the Clos de Salembier to assure order about 9:30 a. m. Other troops of the normal security forces were there already. Everything was quiet enough, except for an occasional ten-year-old who shouted a Moslem slogan.

Most of the people in the Clos de Salembier live in the bleak but decent new housing which has been constructed in Algiers in recent years for the poor. But there is also a hideous, still surviving hut settlement. From this sordid warren, as the paratroopers arrived, there shot out a wild-eyed young harpy of about 20.

She was all but frothing at the mouth with longing to start trouble and she had the means to start trouble in her hand, in the form of a large F. L. N. flag. There was a frozen moment, while she screamed and waved her flag, and the paratroopers gaped in anger and astonishment.

Then the paratroopers, who do not easily tolerate the sight of the flag they are ordered to fight against, move forward to seize the few yards of bunting from the young woman's hands. A crowd collected. An ugly growling started. Several of the young paratroopers began fingering their weapons.

But now, apparently springing from the ground, there appeared the tubby, middle-aged little policeman of the quarter. With a furious bellow, he caused the harpy to disappear. With another furious bellow, he made the crowd begin to scatter. And then he turned on the soldiers, who were naturally thinking of patrolling the warren of shacks, with a final bellow of comical but effective indignation:

"I'm in charge here. Order here is my responsibility. While I can assure order, you gentlemen had better keep out!"

The paratroopers, grinning sheepishly, retired, and order was indeed restored by the little policeman — which would not have been the result if a military patrol has further inflamed the emotions of the moment.

One is inclined to think of Gen. de Gaulle as the heroic version of the common sensible policeman of the Clos de Salembier. During the rioting, a small French shopkeeper, one of those who really believe their way of life is coming to an end, said to me almost tearfully, "There was only one man with bronze guts" (he used a less polite word unsuitable for family newspapers) "and, by God, Old Bronze Guts de Gaulle is on the other side."

But if there is any good or even bearable outcome in Algeria, it will be because of those guts of bronze.

These Days

Money Versus Morale

The argument is that in peacetime a soldier or a civilian employe of the United States, sent overseas, must have his family with him and must have cushy inducements or he will not serve his country. The assumption is that only during a fighting war need a sacrifice be made; that if Americans are stationed in West Germany, Africa, Japan or anywhere else when fighting is actually not taking place, the inducement should be that they will live better than they ever lived before. Otherwise, their morale will be low.

If this is a correct statement of the attitude of American personnel in government service, then we are licked worse than we know. In the circumstances of modern war we cannot limit our overseas personnel to periods when an enemy is actually attacking us. Soviet Russia is making permanent war against us. The attacks are made in various places and are of diverse natures, requiring large numbers of experts to handle the problems that arise from the attacks.

Public Law 86-707 sets forth in great detail all that is to be allowed civilian employes of our government abroad. Let me cite a few items:

"A post allowance to offset the difference between the cost of living at the post of assignment of the employe in a foreign area and the cost of living in Washington, District of Columbia;

"A transfer allowance for extraordinary, necessary, and reasonable expenses, not otherwise compensated for, incurred by an employe incident to establishing himself at any post of assignment in a foreign area or at a post of assignment in the United States between assignments to posts in foreign areas;

"A separate maintenance allowance to, assist an employe who is compelled, by reason of dangerous, notably unhealthful, or excessively adverse living conditions at his post of assignment in a foreign area or for the convenience of the Government, to meet the additional expense of maintaining, elsewhere than at such post, his wife or his dependents, or both . . ."

"The travel expenses of dependents of an employe to and from a school in the United States to obtain an American secondary or undergraduate college education, not to exceed one trip each way for each dependent for the purpose of obtaining each type of education . . ."

I only cite these items as examples of what the United States does for its employes. There is much more. All of this involves the export of dollars and, as it has worked out, of gold, to foreign countries. The greatest item in our balance of payments which goes against us is the cost of maintaining Americans abroad on an American standard of living whether the country can afford it or not. Cutting out the foreign items sold in a PX will not alter the situation too much, although it may help. What will make the difference is an analysis of how many persons, military and civilian, the United States employs abroad and what cut by a third or a half it would make an enormous difference in our national bookkeeping. We shall be required to cut our overseas expenditures until we have a substantial dollar. This is the most severe problem that faces this nation.

For instance, what has been the actual propagandistic value of some of our agencies in many foreign countries? Has anyone ever made an evaluation of them and of the work they do and what they have actually accomplished in each country? Perhaps a new President will have a new look at all this. If having enormous personnel at each embassy, labor experts and cultural experts and propagandists brings us nothing but neutralism or enmity, why not save the cost?

It ought to be a top undertaking of the new Administration to make a study of the work that is being done overseas. Vice President Nixon announced during the campaign that he would put all Cold War projects in a new office under Henry Cabot Lodge. It was a good plan, but before anything can be done about the development of such a department, it is necessary to audit what has been done and what is being done. Such an audit has never been made. It is quite possible that we are spending lots of money for nothing.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

F.K.B.W.—Pins bearing these letters are beginning to sprout in Washington like weeds in springtime. They mean 'For Kennedy Before Wisconsin," and are practicularly popular among Democrats who opposed the President-elect during the pre-convention period, but now want to forget it.

To hear politicians talk these days, one finds it hard to understand where the Kennedy opposition came from in the primaries, or at the Los Angeles political convention.

That's what makes politicians so interesting; they can switch sides quicker than army leaders in a South American revolution.

NATIONAL GOALS — President Eisenhower's committee on national goals now reported its findings, delayed — correctly we think —until after the Presidential election, in order to keep them above the partisan battle.

Nonetheless, its recommendations for a greater national effort in many fields, including defense, education, foreign aid, unemployment assistance, etc., immediately fell under sharp criticism of opposing political factions.

It is unfortunate that the committee's report was made to what now is a lame duck administration. Neither the departing Republicans nor the incoming Democrats have any responsibility to pursue its recommendations.

Both Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen John F. Kennedy spoke of the need for a greater national effort in the 1960s if the United States is to successfully meet the determined challenge of Russian Communism for world influence.

One of Kennedy's first acts as President should be to create his own broad committee to determine necessary and desirable goals for his own administration, and then the Kennedy regime should go about the job of making them realities.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The writer is a compulsive worker. What he records is partly art, partly craft, and always solitary. The thing he sells comes from inside a size seven-and-a-quarter head. Whether it is a good product or a poor one, it comes from what his eyes see, his ears hear, his nose smells, his mind thinks and his memory records.

There is no other way. A painter works alone but he can, by accident, achieve a notable effect. A writer cannot record a great scene by accident. A bullfighter, too, works alone but if he is gored, other men distract his tormentor. A king, a president, a judge, a builder, can consult advisors and precedent. A writer must always hack new paths through the jungle of a mind he has learned to distrust.

If he wirtes a good book, so much the worse for him because all of his future work will be measured against it.

There are writers whom I will not name who were your favorites a decade ago. They are not dead, nor are they "written out." They have learned that their best is not always good enough. The last two or three books did not sell. Now they sit at the typewriter conditioned to fear. They are afraid of the next one.

This is sad, because a writer must be an egocentric before he begins his first work. His goal—no matter how loudly he denies it—is to inflict his opinions upon others. He wears an eye mask of humility because it is becoming. He steals thoughts, ideas and phrases from friends and he plants them in his mental jungle for future flowering.

His funeral begins on the day of his first big success and it is a gay and everlasting dirge. His cult lights incense at his feet. The odor is heady and he spends more time in the shrine and less at the typewriter. Overnight, he is an important person. He is sought for his opinions on subjects about which he knows nothing — politics, children, religion, science—but he solves all problems glibly. He becomes a public speaker, a a hail fellow well drunk, a wanton indicter of those whom he does not like.

He wants to write a bigger, better, more profound book than the last one but he is frustrated by blank sheets of paper. He stares at them. They stare back in blindness. There are only 26 letters in the alphabet and he knows that, if he hits the right keys in correct sequence a half million times, he will have another great book. But which keys are the right ones?

What he needs most of all, after success, is confidence. Sometimes he looks for it in a bottle; sometimes in capsules; rarely in church. The more his confidence recedes in the jungle, the more he demands of his friends. He no longer wants criticism. He wants love. He wants devotion. Light another joss stick at the shrine. Make it a big one. Mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the greatest . .

He makes jolly phone calls to his agent, grins like a hurt pug when he is introduced as the author of something he write 10 years ago, borrows from his publishers, winces when his name evinces no flash of recognition, and speaks of trips abroad as though he is thinking of fresh ideas and not running away.

The one thing which will save him is truth, and the writer cannot face this. He can write about it as though he copyrighted the word, but he cannot apply it to himself. He cannot look at himself and say: 'I am a small, lucky man." It is impossible because it is a stiletto in the ego, and the ego is what impelled him to inflict his opinions on others from the start.

If he lives through the protracted funeral service, the writer, in time, becomes a bland schizophrenic. In public, he projects the image of the great thinker and the polite listener; in private, he tortures himself with pages and pages of nothing which, in turn, are crushed into worthless balls and hurled against a wall.

It isn't a pretty picture, but it's a fairly accurate one. We have a few writers who have learned to live with themselves. Carl Sandburg is one. Ernest Hemingway is spilling the same wine the third time John Steinbeck — where is our old hero? Sometimes the writer hacks so many paths that the whole jungle is leveled.

It is shameful to stare at a proud man when he weeps . . .

Some Drugs Can Cause 'Discolored' Vision

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Seeing red is a figurative expression but seeing yellow actually happens. Taking too much digitalis, for example, may make objects appear yellowish or greenish.

Similar complaints are being heard from persons who use chlorothiazide, a new diuretic. This product stimulates the kidneys to eliminate the excess water that accumulates in the tissues of victims of dropsy, high blood pressure, or premenstrual tension.

A young woman with yellow vision was reported by Dr. Jerrold Post while he was interning at the Grace-New Haven Community Hospital. The girl had been taking chlorothiazide for premenstrual tension during the last two weeks of each cycle. After several months on this regimen, she noticed that her usual snowy white linen was marred by large yellow spots. Her Chinese laundryman insisted the sheets were immaculate. She mentioned this to her physician who stopped the medication. The yellow vision disappeared and the sheets once again looked snowy white.

Most of us associate ragweed with hay fever but the plant can cause dermatitis, like that produced by poison ivy. Victims of ragweed skin irritation are few and far between. The majority are farmers who come into contact with the plant most frequently; they are likely to be over 40, showing that years of exposure are necessary to develop the allergy.

Tests reveal sensitivity to ragweed oil, which is most abundant in the leaves and stalk, toward the end of the ragweed season. The skin of the neck, eyelids, and arms is involved most often. Redness, itching, and blisters ensue.

TOMORROW: Little exercise tricks.

MENOPAUSE

Mrs. G. writes: Is it normal for the blood pressure to go up during the change?
REPLY
Elevation of the blood pressure is never normal. Many women develop hypertension in midlife but the rise in pressure is unrelated to the menopause.

BLOCKED LYMPH GLANDS

H. H. writes: Why does the arm on the involved side swell after a breast is removed?
REPLY
This develops occasionally when the glands in the armpit are removed and the lymphatic passageways are blocked to the extent that tissue fluids cannot escape from the arm.

HABITUATION

H. G. T. writes: Are tranquilizers considered habit forming?
REPLY
Not the most popular types but there are dozens of different tranquilizers and each should be considered separately.

VITAMINS AND ARTHRITIS

M. A. writes: Is an arthritic harming herself by loading up on a lot of vitamins without her physician's knowledge?
REPLY
Probably not unless whopping doses of A and D are taken.

BLOOD LOSS

N. J. writes: How much blood must a person lose before he is given a transfusion?
REPLY
From 1 to 1½ pints.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Disarmament Mirage And The Deterrents

Many thoughtful men of the free world have reached the conclusions that the hope of averting a terrible war at some future date does not rely upon disarmament and that the goal of disarmament itself should no longer be considered.

They have reached these conclusions not because they do not want to see a removal of powerful weapons of destruction, but because even the achievement of a nuclear disarmament pact could somehow be guaranteed would be meaningless in light of today's military power.

When considering the burgeoning arsenal of non-nuclear weapons and the fantastic race proceeding unchecked in many fields of armament it seems futile to continue the years-long hassle over nuclear disarmament and inspection guarantees. If success were achieved at some future date in the prohibition of nuclear weapons, would opposing leaders then begin talks to ban missiles, earth satellites, intercontinental bombers and chemical warfare agents?

These latter, in particular, are little known by the public. But they have progressed to the point where generals of a future conflict will have the choice of killing outright entire populations of metropolitan areas by noiseless, unannounced bacteria or chemical gas invasion, or simply paralyzing the enemy's defenses.

Defenses which have been perfected against nuclear weapons and the very real possibility that retaliatory weapons would be even more destructive have all but rendered atomic and hydrogen bombs obsolete.

Realization that no peace guarantees will emerge from the abolition of one part of a weapon spectrum is the first step toward development of a more realistic approach to peace insurance. The very circumstance that the age of nuclear warfare has come and largely gone without its aggressive employment is strong testimony to the peace guarantees of a continually developing retaliatory system.

Most Traveled Member Of Ike's Cabinet Is Agriculture Secretary

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The most internationally traveled member of the President's Cabinet isn't Secretary Herter who handles foreign problems but Secretary of Agriculture Benson who is supposed to handle farm problems here at home.

On his frequent farm forays overseas, he usually takes along members of his family. Their travel bill, of course, has been paid by the taxpayers.

The Bensons have barnstormed through 42 countries since 1955, going back for revisits to many. They have toured more foreign cities than farms, including such unlikely agriculture centers as Paris, Rome, Madrid, Moscow, Athens, Cairo, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Rio de Janeiro, and Buenos Aires.

Benson's power to commandeer a government plane for overseas flights will come to an end next month. Possibly with this in mind, he has taken his family on three hasty trips abroad in the past four months.

He just got back from an 18-day trip to the Far East with his wife, daughter Beverly, daughter Barbara, and Barbara's husband, Dr. Robert Walker.

They stopped at Salt Lake City (Benson's home town), Honolulu, Tokyo, Taipei, Manila, Sydney, Wellington, and a place called Nandi in the Fiji Islands.

Latin America In October

Benson reported back to the President that all was well from Tokyo to the Fijis, except for some concern over President-elect Kennedy's "position with respect to Red China."

"It made us proud as Americans," Benson added, "to find with what respect, for example, we are held in Japan"—where hostile mobs a few months earlier barred Ike from making a scheduled visit.

During October, the Benson family made a 13-day swing through Latin America. Accompanying the Secretary on this junket were his wife, son Reed, daughter Bonnie, and daughter-in-law May.

Again Benson came back brimming with optimism. He saw "little indication" that Latin Americans are "ready to compromise their hopes and aspirations on the false promises of either Castroism or Communism.

"Latin America today," he assured the President, "is flexing its muscles in the direction of greater enterprise and greater freedom in emulation of the American dream."

Hardly had Benson filed this cheerful report than Castroites attempted to overthrow the governments of Nicaragua, Guatemala and Venezuela. Also Brazil's President-elect Janio Quadros, who had made a pilgrimage to Havana to see Castro, spurned invitations to visit President Eisenhower and President-elect Kennedy, went to London instead, while Brazilian Vice President Goulart went to Moscow.

In August, Benson took his wife and daughter Beverly on a 17-day safari through Europe and the Middle East. He was also cheerful about these areas upon his return.

Expensive Trips

The cost of the private airplane alone for these three lame-duck junkets is estimated at $124,655.50.

In 1959, Benson flew to Russia with his wife and two daughters, Beverly and Bonnie.

"We will not soon forget," he reported to the President, "the tear-stained faces and fervent hopes of some 1,500 Russian Christians who sang 'God Be With You Till We Meet Again' as we were leaving Moscow."

He stayed home two weeks, then took off around the world in the late President Roosevelt's old plane, the "Sacred Cow." The airplane cost for these two trips was $56,788.95.

No one in Washington would challenge Benson's basic integrity. In fairness, it should be reported that he conferred with agriculture officials in all the countries he visited, except Hong Kong in 1957.

"The President encouraged me to take members of my family," Benson explained to this column. "It hasn't been easy as Mrs. Benson will testify. At times I have had to persuade and encourage my family members to get them to go."

It was also the President's idea that he visit all countries with which the United States has foreign trade, he said.

The three hurried trips before his term expires did not produce any trade agreements, he acknowledged. However, he felt that he had "plowed the ground."

Dollar-Go-Round

Military dependents, who are being shipped home to reduce dollar spending overseas, have threatened in letters home to retaliate against the Republicans at the polls next chance they get. Their ballots flooded in from overseas last month in a pro-Nixon tide which swung California to Nixon and reduced Kennedy's popular margin. Thousands have now complained that they would never have voted for Nixon if President Eisenhower had issued his send-dependents-home order before the election . . . Actually dependents spent only a fraction of the amount invested by U. S. firms overseas last year . . . American tourists also left a wider trail of greenbacks around the world. They spent $2,400,000,000 abroad last year as compared with only $900,000,000 brought into the USA by foreign visitors . . . A. J. Rome, vice president of Riddle Airlines, has a plan for reversing the dollar flow. By setting up cheap charter flights, he believes thousands of tourists can be attracted to the United States . . . Biggest bottleneck: The State Department's obsolete visa restrictions have made foreigners feel they aren't wanted in America. By cutting out the red tape, the United States could open the floodgates to foreign tourism . . . Our new restrictions on dollar spending in Japan, Premier Ikeda has warned privately, may force Japan to trade with Communist China.

The Tragedy Of Algiers: A Study In Folly

By Joseph Alsop

ALGIERS

In this tragic city, like a giant hornets' nest that has been poked by a fool, one is driven to reflect on the powers of unreason in the affairs of men. Men and women have died here, and solely because so many people have been angrily biting off their noses to spite their faces.

As these words are written, it is not clear whether the end of the tragedy is in sight, this reporter believes, or whether many more have yet to die. Enough has happened, in any case, to make one wish to join the rather special political party of the heroine of the Greek wartime resistance who once announced she was an "extreme centrist." On being asked what this meant, she replied crisply, with an air of stern purpose:

"The extreme centrists are the sensible people like me, who would like to shoot everyone on the extreme right and the extreme left."

The trouble in Algiers began with the young fools who were sent to shout their heads off on the Rue Michelet by the older fools of the Front of Algerie Francaise. The idea — and what an idea! — was either to undermine the French army's loyalty or to intimidate Gen. de Gaulle himself. The effect was to reduce, quite measurably, the chance that the French people in Algeria will be able to play their necessary role in this unhappy country's future.

The silly shouting on the Rue Michelet led by imperceptible stages to sporadic conflict between the French and Moslem communities. The Moslem hotheads, whose people have everything to gain by calm, began their own bout of shouting and flag waving. Many died. And a yet deeper gulf was opened between the two communities, which must somehow manage to work together if the Algeria of the future is to work at all.

It is not especially consoling that the vast majorities of both communities have quite visibly regarded the whole business as a nightmare. In no group, it seems, are the members of the great, relatively reasonable mass willing to make the efforts to control "their own s. o. b.'s" in the old, coarse but accurate phrase.

For consolation, in fact, one can only recall vignettes of recent days, which prove that the folly of the mass does not always infect all the individuals in the mass.

In their excited voices, one caught a glimmer of hope for Gen. de Gaulle's great bet on eventual peace in Algeria. In the little policeman in the Clos de Salembier this morning, one caught a glimmer of hope for the human race. This is a poor quarter, where there had been communal conflict ending in the flight of the Europeans the night before.

Truckloads of French paratroopers, just about the finest troops in the Western world but not the most polished politicians, were going into the Clos de Salembier to assure order about 9:30 a. m. Other troops of the normal security forces were there already. Everything was quiet enough, except for an occasional ten-year-old who shouted a Moslem slogan.

Most of the people in the Clos de Salembier live in the bleak but decent new housing which has been constructed in Algiers in recent years for the poor. But there is also a hideous, still surviving hut settlement. From this sordid warren, as the paratroopers arrived, there shot out a wild-eyed young harpy of about 20.

She was all but frothing at the mouth with longing to start trouble and she had the means to start trouble in her hand, in the form of a large F. L. N. flag. There was a frozen moment, while she screamed and waved her flag, and the paratroopers gaped in anger and astonishment.

Then the paratroopers, who do not easily tolerate the sight of the flag they are ordered to fight against, move forward to seize the few yards of bunting from the young woman's hands. A crowd collected. An ugly growling started. Several of the young paratroopers began fingering their weapons.

But now, apparently springing from the ground, there appeared the tubby, middle-aged little policeman of the quarter. With a furious bellow, he caused the harpy to disappear. With another furious bellow, he made the crowd begin to scatter. And then he turned on the soldiers, who were naturally thinking of patrolling the warren of shacks, with a final bellow of comical but effective indignation:

"I'm in charge here. Order here is my responsibility. While I can assure order, you gentlemen had better keep out!"

The paratroopers, grinning sheepishly, retired, and order was indeed restored by the little policeman — which would not have been the result if a military patrol has further inflamed the emotions of the moment.

One is inclined to think of Gen. de Gaulle as the heroic version of the common sensible policeman of the Clos de Salembier. During the rioting, a small French shopkeeper, one of those who really believe their way of life is coming to an end, said to me almost tearfully, "There was only one man with bronze guts" (he used a less polite word unsuitable for family newspapers) "and, by God, Old Bronze Guts de Gaulle is on the other side."

But if there is any good or even bearable outcome in Algeria, it will be because of those guts of bronze.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

F.K.B.W.—Pins bearing these letters are beginning to sprout in Washington like weeds in springtime. They mean 'For Kennedy Before Wisconsin," and are praticularly popular among Democrats who opposed the President-elect during the pre-convention period, but now want to forget it.

To hear politicians talk these days, one finds it hard to understand where the Kennedy opposition came from in the primaries, or at the Los Angeles political convention.

That's what makes politicians so interesting; they can switch sides quicker than army leaders in a South American revolution.

NATIONAL GOALS — President Eisenhower's committee on national goals now reported its findings, delayed — correctly we think —until after the Presidential election, in order to keep them above the partisan battle.

Nonetheless, its recommendations for a greater national effort in many fields, including defense, education, foreign aid, unemployment assistance, etc., immediately fell under sharp criticism of opposing political factions.

It is unfortunate that the committee's report was made to what now is a lame duck administration. Neither the departing Republicans nor the incoming Democrats have any responsibility to pursue its recommendations.

Both Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen John F. Kennedy spoke of the need for a greater national effort in the 1960s if the United States is to successfully meet the determined challenge of Russian Communism for world influence.

One of Kennedy's first acts as President should be to create his own broad committee to determine necessary and desirable goals for his own administration, and then the Kennedy regime should go about the job of making them realities.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The writer is a compulsive worker. What he records is partly art, partly craft, and always solitary. The thing he sells comes from inside a size seven-and-a-quarter head. Whether it is a good product or a poor one, it comes from what his eyes see, his ears hear, his nose smells, his mind thinks and his memory records.

There is no other way. A painter works alone but he can, by accident, achieve a notable effect. A writer cannot record a great scene by accident. A bullfighter, too, works alone but if he is gored, other men distract his tormentor. A king, a president, a judge, a builder, can consult advisors and precedent. A writer must always hack new paths through the jungle of a mind he has learned to distrust.

If he wirtes a good book, so much the worse for him because all of his future work will be measured against it.

There are writers whom I will not name who were your favorites a decade ago. They are not dead, nor are they "written out." They have learned that their best is not always good enough. The last two or three books did not sell. Now they sit at the typewriter conditioned to fear. They are afraid of the next one.

This is sad, because a writer must be an egocentric before he begins his first work. His goal—no matter how loudly he denies it—is to inflict his opinions upon others. He wears an eye mask of humility because it is becoming. He steals thoughts, ideas and phrases from friends and he plants them in his mental jungle for future flowering.

His funeral begins on the day of his first big success and it is a gay and everlasting dirge. His cult lights incense at his feet. The odor is heady and he spends more time in the shrine and less at the typewriter. Overnight, he is an important person. He is sought for his opinions on subjects about which he knows nothing — politics, children, religion, science—but he solves all problems glibly. He becomes a public speaker, a a hail fellow well drunk, a wanton indicter of those whom he does not like.

He wants to write a bigger, better, more profound book than the last one but he is frustrated by blank sheets of paper. He stares at them. They stare back in blindness. There are only 26 letters in the alphabet and he knows that, if he hits the right keys in correct sequence a half million times, he will have another great book. But which keys are the right ones?

What he needs most of all, after success, is confidence. Sometimes he looks for it in a bottle; sometimes in capsules; rarely in church. The more his confidence recedes in the jungle, the more he demands of his friends. He no longer wants criticism. He wants love. He wants devotion. Light another joss stick at the shrine. Make it a big one. Mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the greatest . .

He makes jolly phone calls to his agent, grins like a hurt pug when he is introduced as the author of something he write 10 years ago, borrows from his publishers, winces when his name evinces no flash of recognition, and speaks of trips abroad as though he is thinking of fresh ideas and not running away.

The one thing which will save him is truth, and the writer cannot face this. He can write about it as though he copyrighted the word, but he cannot apply it to himself. He cannot look at himself and say: 'I am a small, lucky man." It is impossible because it is a stiletto in the ego, and the ego is what impelled him to inflict his opinions on others from the start.

If he lives through the protracted funeral service, the writer, in time, becomes a bland schinzophrenic. In public, he projects the image of the great thinker and the polite listener; in private, he tortures himself with pages and pages of nothing which, in turn, are crushed into worthless balls and hurled against a wall.

It isn't a pretty picture, but it's a fairly accurate one. We have a few writers who have learned to live with themselves. Carl Sandburg is one. Ernest Hemingway is spilling the same wine the third time John Steinbeck — where is our old hero? Sometimes the writer hacks so many paths that the whole jungle is leveled.

It is shameful to stare at a proud man when he weeps . . .

Some Drugs Can Cause 'Discolored' Vision

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Seeing red is a figurative expression but seeing yellow actually happens. Taking too much digitalis, for example, may make objects appear yellowish or greenish.

Similar complaints are being heard from persons who use chlorothiazide, a new diuretic. This product stimulates the kidneys to eliminate the excess water that accumulates in the tissues of victims of dropsy, high blood pressure, or premenstrual tension.

A young woman with yellow vision was reported by Dr. Jerrold Post while he was interning at the Grace-New Haven Community Hospital. The girl had been taking chlorothiazide for premenstrual tension during the last two weeks of each cycle. After several months on this regimen, she noticed that her usual snowy white linen was marred by large yellow spots. Her Chinese laundryman insisted the sheets were immaculate. She mentioned this to her physician who stopped the medication. The yellow vision disappeared and the sheets once again looked snowy white.

Most of us associate ragweed with hay fever but the plant can cause dermatitis, like that produced by poison ivy. Victims of ragweed skin irritation are few and far between. The majority are farmers who come into contact with the plant most frequently; they are likely to be over 40, showing that years of exposure are necessary to develop the allergy.

Tests reveal sensitivity to ragweed oil, which is most abundant in the leaves and stalk, toward the end of the ragweed season. The skin of the neck, eyelids, and arms is involved most often. Redness, itching, and blisters ensue.

TOMORROW: Little exercise tricks.

MENOPAUSE

Mrs. G. writes: Is it normal fo the blood pressure to go up during the change?
REPLY
Elevation of the blood pressure is never normal. Many women develop hypertension in midlife but the rise in pressure is unrelated to the menopause.

BLOCKED LYMPH GLANDS

H. H. writes: Why does the arm on the involved side swell after a breast is removed?
REPLY
This develops occasionally when the glands in the armpit are removed and the lymphatic passageways are blocked to the extent that tissue fluids cannot escape from the arm.

HABITUATION

H. G. T. writes: Are tranquilizers considered habit forming?
REPLY
Not the most popular types but there are dozens of different tranquilizers and each should be considered separately.

VITAMINS AND ARTHRITIS

M. A. writes: Is an arthritic harming herself by loading up on a lot of vitamins without her physician's knowledge?
REPLY
Probably not unless whopping doses of A and D are taken.

BLOOD LOSS

N. J. writes: How much blood must a person lose before he is given a transfusion?
REPLY
From 1 to 1½ pints.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Some samples:

1. "Who is that poor old beggar tottering over there?" "That's an economics professor who put his theories to a practical test in the stock market."

2. SHE: I'll have you know I am a Woman — Nature's Crowning Piece of Architecture. And you? HE: I'm a building inspector.

3. "Papa, where do all the bugs go in winter?"
"Search me."
"No thanks, papa. I just wanted the information."

Richard Armour, an observant imbiber, writes:

"How cunningly the ice holds back
And lingers underneath
And lets you raise and tilt the glass—
Then smacks you in the teeth."

At the National Auto Show in Detroit mannikins were posed in some of the cars At last, the perfect back-seat passenger!

Twenty policemen labored for six hours to untangle the traffic at the opening of England's newest super-highway. Seems that things must have gotten into a super-snarl!

A stamp-saving game that American children get paid for playing

Today, thousands of American youngsters are buying U. S. Savings Bonds by buying Savings Stamps each week. Stamps are sold at many schools, through the Treasury's School Savings Program and at most Post Offices. And as the stamp books are filled, they can be exchanged for full-fledged Bonds.

While they save for Bonds, these children are learning lessons in good citizenship and thrift. And at the same time they're helping keep the peace.

Here's how an eight-year school savings program works:

If they save this much each week	Bonds collected	Total Saved	Value at maturity
25c	4	$75.00	$100.00
50c	8	$150.00	$200.00

Why not get your children in the saving habit early with U. S. Bonds? If your school doesn't have a Savings Stamp program just write for information to your Savings Bonds State Director, or to the Savings Bond Division, U. S. Treasury Department, Washington 25, D. C.

. . . and a special note to grownups about U. S. Savings Bonds:

You can save automatically with the Payroll Savings Plan.

Where Are Breakfasts Of Yesteryear?

In any discussion of the "good old days," a subject that often arises is the remarkable breakfasts our grandparents stowed away regularly. Many remember as a child a family breakfast table set with fried meat, pickles and pie, as well as fruits, breads and cereals.

As our pace of living has changed, food needs have diminished. While it is still vitally important that a breakfast which supplies a third or fourth of our day's food needs be eaten each morning, the staggering quantities of foods which comprised yesterday's breakfasts are a thing of the past.

If ever nostalgia for these fondly recalled breakfasts comes upon us, however, surely it is in autumn when the crisp morning air bears cooking odors to us with sharpened appeal. On such days, why not take a page from grandmother's cookbook and serve a breakfast reminiscent of those of 50 years ago?

Streamlined for the sixties are Bran Pancakes made from a prepared mix. Just add milk, whole bran cereal and melted shortening to the mix. For variety add crumbled crisp bacon or finely chopped apples to the batter. Serve the pancakes in stacks with hot syrup, applesauce and confectioners' sugar or your own favorite fruit preserves as toppings.

Crumble-topped Orange Coffee Cake is another breakfast with turn-of-the-century appeal. Made with whole bran cereal and orange juice, this flavorful quick bread completes a morning repast of grapefruit juice, ready-to-eat high protein cereal with milk, and milk or coffee to drink.

Bran Pancakes

2½ cups milk
2 cups prepared pancake mix
½ cup whole bran cereal
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Add milk to pancake mix and stir only until combined. Stir in whole bran cereal and melted shortening. Bake on hot, lightly greased griddle, turning only once.

Yield: 16 medium - sized pancakes.

Orange Coffee Cake

2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
⅓ cup sifted flour
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
¼ cup soft shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
⅛ teaspoon almond flavoring
½ cup whole bran cereal
¾ cup orange juice
¼ cup milk
1¼ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Cut butter into flour, brown sugar and orange rind until mixture resembles coarse corn meal.

Blend shortening and sugar; add egg, orange rind and almond flavoring and beat well. Stir in whole bran cereal, orange juice and milk. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to whole bran cereal mixture, stirring only until combined. Spread in greased 9x9-inch pan; sprinkle with brown sugar mixture, pressing lightly into batter. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 25 minutes. Cut into squares and serve at once.

Yield: 9 2½-inch squares.

Hot Biscuits

Build your holiday meals around light, piping hot biscuits. Made up easily in minutes, biscuits serve as the basis for quick and economical meals during the busy holiday season. Prepare a basic biscuit dough and roll out to ½ inch thick. Then try one of these ideas for a simple main dish: (1) Cut into rounds with a 3-inch cutter. After baking, split the biscuits and serve barbecued beef or creamed tuna, turkey or eggs between halves and over the top. (2) Make little biscuit cups by pressing 3-inch squares of dough into 2¾-inch muffin cups. Fill them with creamed meat or vegetables after baking (3) Top leftover stew or chili with biscuit rounds and bake. The biscuits will extend your leftovers enough to make another substantial, nutritious meal.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Blade Pot-Roast.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. Blade pot-roast is cut from the chuck. It contains portions of rib and blade bones.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. Blade pot-roast is cooked slowly in moist heat; that is, by braising. The meat is browned slowly on all sides in its own or a small amount of fat in a heavy utensil. It may be dredged in seasoned flour before browning, if desired. After browning, add a small amount of liquid, cover tightly and cook at a low temperature until tender, allowing 3 to 4 hours for cooking.

Utilize Leftovers

Leftover slices of meat can be used for cold plates, cold sandwiches, in gravy for hot sandwiches, or heated in a barbecue sauce or brown gravy.

Use cubed leftover beef in cream sauce over toast or biscuits; in curry sauce over rice; in casseroles with rice or noodles. Or you can serve leftover meat loaf cold or reheated with canned mushroom soup or tomato soup poured over the top.

Cranberry Relish

Easy and elegant describes this unusual accompaniment for the Easter Ham. Whip 1 cup whipping cream until stiff. Fold in 1 package (10½ ounces) frozen cranberry relish (slightly defrosted) and 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish. Serve without freezing or pour into a 4x10-inch refrigerator tray, freeze until firm. Cut into 12 pieces and serve immediately.

Beef Stew — Country Style

If beef stew is as popular with your family as it is with most, you can serve it often with no danger of monotony if you give thought to the variety of vegetables you can cook with it.

One secret of successful stew making is to avoid overcooking the vegetables. Since the meat calls for long slow cooking, vegetables should be added just long enough before the end of the cooking time so that they will be tender but not overcooked by the time the meat is done.

Country-Style Beef Stew

2 pounds boneless beef for stew
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups water
6 medium potatoes
6 small whole carrots
1 package (12 ounces) frozen Brussels sprouts
3 tablespoons flour

Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, pepper and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 2 hours. Add potatoes and carrots, cover and cook 30 minutes longer. Add Brussels sprouts and cook an additional 15 minutes or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. Remove meat and vegetables to serving platter. Add water to cooking liquid to make 2 cups. Thicken liquid with flour for gravy. Yield: 6 servings.

Caramel Nut Loaf

A rich caramel flavor and nutty texture describe Caramel Nut Loaf. This delicious quick loaf bread is fancy enough for company dessert, yet easy and economical enough to slice and tuck into the kids' lunch boxes. To prepare, sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and ½ cup brown sugar. Stir in ¾ cup chopped nuts. Combine 1 beaten egg, ¾ to 1 cup milk and 3 tablespoons melted shortening. Add liquid to flour mixture, stirring until flour is moistened. Turn into greased 4½ x 8½-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 1 hour. Cool before slicing. Makes 1 loaf.

Storing Hams

All hams except possibly country-style (with a heavy cure), should be refrigerated. Canned hams three pounds or larger should be stored in the refrigerator. For storing canned hams less than three pounds follow instructions on the label.

Sandwich In Season

It's a pleasure to have leftover meats appear in a new guise. Arrange a lettuce leaf on a slice of toasted bread. Top lettuce with thinly sliced pork, ham, or beef, and top meat with 2 tablespoons of canned cranberry sauce.

Roast Beef Garnish

Big, baked apples filled with mincemeat make a colorful garnish for roast beef during the holiday season. Remove apple cores but do not peel. Place 1 tablespoon sugar in center of each apple. Fill with mincemeat and bake, covered, in a moderate oven (375° F.) about 45 minutes or until apples are tender.

Rub an ice cube over hard-to-remove chewing gum on clothing. Then the gum will roll off like water from a duck's back.

Rare, Medium, Or Well Done?

Beef roasts and steaks can be cooked to the rare, medium, or well-done stage, according to recommended cooking times and temperatures. Veal and pork roasts, steaks and chops should always be cooked to the well-done stage. Depending on personal preference, lamb roasts and chops may be cooked to either the medium or well-done stage. Less tender cuts of all meats are cooked well-done.

Cool Day, Warm Dessert

Days are cooler than when apples first turned ripe on the trees. Now that wonderfully crisp fruit, so good eaten out-of-hand, will be delicious in a baked dessert too. Deep dish Apple Raisin Pie served warm with cream will be as welcome as a crackling fire. Quick-cooking tapioca is mixed with the fruit to help the filling thicken to perfection with sparkling juices and fresh fruit flavor.

Apple Raisin Deep-Dish Pie

- 3 tablespoons tapioca
- ¾ cup granulated sugar
- ⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 10 cups thinly sliced peeled fresh apples
- ⅓ cup raisins
- ½ cup water
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Pastry for one-crust pie

Combine tapioca, sugars, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, apples, raisins and water. Pour mixture into deep 8-inch square baking dish. Dot with butter. Let stand about 15 minutes. Roll pastry ⅛ inch thick and cut several 2-inch slits or a fancy design near center. Fold pastry in half or roll loosely on rolling pin; center on filling. Open slits with a knife. (Well-opened slits are important to permit escape of steam during baking.) Trim pastry, allowing it to extend ½ inch over rim. Fold pastry over edge of dish and press it to rim. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 45 minutes, or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst. Serve warm. Makes 8 or 9 servings.

Make Christmas Candies For Dessert, Coffee Hour

Gay Christmas candies will fill stockings on Christmas morning—and candy dishes all through the holiday season. But have you ever thought what a wonderful holiday dinner dessert candies can be?... especially the homemade kind! After a seemingly endless holiday meal of one tempting course after another, we'd happily settle for something not quite as filling as pie! This is the ideal time to accompany coffee with bite-sized homemade candies. Such delectables as Holiday Treats (which need no cooking!) and decorative Chocolate - Butterscotch Fudge, taste heavenly with hot, fragrant demitasse.

Remember, too, that a luscious candy or two, and a cup of freshly-brewed coffee, makes a cheery Christmas welcome to holiday drop-in guests.

HOLIDAY TREATS

- 1 6-oz. package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- ½ cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons light corn syrup
- ½ cup orange juice
- 2½ cups finely crushed vanilla wafers
- 1 cup finely chopped walnuts
- Sugar

Melt semi-sweet chocolate over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat; stir in sugar and corn syrup. Blend in orange juice. Add wafer crumbs and nuts to chocolate mixture; mix well. Form in 1-inch balls. Roll in sugar. Let ripen in covered container several days. Holiday Treats keep for 3 to 4 weeks in a tightly covered container and improve in flavor on standing. Makes 5 dozen.

Chocolate-Butterscotch Fudge

- 1½ cups evaporated milk, divided
- 2 cups sugar, divided
- ½ teaspoon salt, divided
- 1 6-oz. package (1 cup) butterscotch pieces
- 1 6-oz. package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- Walnut halves

Combine ¾ cup of the evaporated milk, 1 cup of the sugar, and ¼ teaspoon of the salt in a 1½ quart saucepan. Place over moderate heat and bring to a full, rolling boil, stirring constantly. Boil 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add butterscotch pieces; stir until smooth. Turn into buttered 8-inch square pan. Repeat, using remaining ¾ cup evaporated milk, 1 cup sugar, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Bring mixture to a full rolling boil 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add chocolate pieces; stir until smooth. Pour chocolate mixture over butterscotch layer. Chill. Cut into 1-inch squares. Place a walnut half on top of each chocolate surface. Makes 2 pounds.

Wassail Bowl Recipe

NEW YORK (UPI) — An 18th century recipe for wassail bowl called for "ten love apples, a clutch of eggs and a flagon of Spanish sherry."

But ale was the basis of the original recipe created some 1,500 years ago. Wassail was the first English toast. It means "be well." The proper Anglo Saxon response, "drink hael," means "drink well."

A 20th century wassail bowl is made by dissolving ¼ to ½ cup of brown sugar (use smaller amount with dry sherry, larger with sweet or cream sherry) in ½ cup of water. Add 1 teaspoon of ginger and ½ teaspoon of nutmeg. For a spicier beverage, also add ½ teaspoon each of allspice and mace, 3 cloves and a small stick of cinnamon. Bring to boil, add 2 bottles of sherry and bring to boil again.

In a 2½-quart punch bowl, beat 6 egg yolks until lemon-colored. Fold in 6 stiffly beaten egg whites. Add hot spiced wine slowly, stirring constantly. Float 6 whole small baked apples on the foam, dust punch and apples with nutmeg and serve. Makes 18 cups.

Traditionally, toast instead of eggs was used in the wassail. Hot buttered toast can be served with the modern version.

Chili Topped Franks

Slit 6 frankfurters and 6 frankfurter buns. Place buns, cut side up, topped with slit frankfurter in a 9x12-inch baking pan. Combine 1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) chili with beans and ¼ cup chopped onion and spoon over frankfurters. Sprinkle with ⅓ cup grated cheddar cheese, bake 10 to 12 minutes in a very hot oven. (450 degrees F.). 4 to 6 servings.

Serving Ham Hot

When canned or fully cooked hams are heated for serving allow 10 to 15 minutes per pound for heating 8 to 14-pound canned and fully cooked hams; 15 to 20 minutes per pound for heating 6-pound canned hams.

Beef Steak Roll-Ups

Here's a familiar meat cut, round steak, that you can spruce up to win the esteem of your whole family.

There's a surprise in these beef birds . . . a favorite vegetable, carrots. The round steak is dredged in flour, wrapped around carrot strips, and browned.

Place potatoes and onions in the same baking dish or skillet, and cooking the whole meal at one time. Mushrooms create a tasty topping. The meal may either be baked or simmered on top of the range.

Beef Birds

- 1½ pounds round steak, cut ½ inch thick
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup lard or drippings
- 4 or 5 small carrots, cut in strips
- 4 peeled potatoes
- 4 small onions
- 1 can mushroom soup

Cut steak into pieces about 3 x 5 inches. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Place 3 or 4 carrot sticks on each piece of steak. Wrap steak around carrots and fasten with a wooden pick. Brown rolls slowly on all sides in lard or drippings. Add potatoes and onions to steak and pour mushroom soup over all. Cover tightly and simmer in a slow oven (300° F.) or on top of range 1½ to 2 hours or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. 4 servings.

Brisk autumn weather hones appetites to a keen edge. Satisfy appetites with this menu shortcut. To regular cream sauce add quarter cup of bread crumbs and two chopped hard cooked eggs. Heat. Arrange whole Norway sardines on buttered toast and cover with sauce. Serve piping hot.

Confetti Eggnog Pie

A look to the New Year is a look to new holiday foods—foods that are easy to prepare and a delight to serve. Confetti Eggnog Pie is the perfect choice for holiday party planning. And you can be sure it's a new "acquaintance" your party guests and family will long remember.

The chiffon filling is a quickly prepared vanilla creme that's combined with whipped cream for a melt-in-your-mouth texture. Delicate rum flavoring and rich bits of candied fruit add a final touch of elegance. The pastry shell also puts on holiday dress with tiny pastry stars lining the edge.

Prepare Confetti Eggnog Pie in the morning or afternoon before your party. Chill it in the refrigerator, and it's ready to serve any time.

You'll be serving your guests double goodness in Confetti Eggnog Pie. The pastry and all foods baked with enriched flour offer valuable nutrients—iron and three essential B-vitamins.

CONFETTI EGGNOG PIE

Pastry

1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
1½ to 2½ teaspoons cold water

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and press dough together. Roll to circle ⅛ inch thick and fit into 8-inch pie pan. Trim and decorate edge. Prick with fork. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Cool and fill.

Filling

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1½ cups milk
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons enriched flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon rum extract
½ cup candied cherries, cut in halves
½ cup chopped candied citron
½ cup whipping cream

Soften gelatin in cold water. Scald milk. Add sugar and flour to eggs. Mix well. All about half the milk to egg mixture, stirring constantly. Combine milk and egg-milk mixture and return to heat. Bring to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook 2 minutes. Remove from heat and add softened gelatin. Stir until dissolved. Chill until partially set. Fold in rum extract, cherries and citron. Whip cream until stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into cooled pastry shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with additional cherries and whipped cream, if desired. Makes 1 8-inch pie.

Liver And Bacon Spread

Chop 4 slices bacon and cook until crisp. Remove bacon, cook 1 pound thinly sliced beef or pork liver in bacon drippings slowly until browned but not hard. Put liver through food chopper and combine with bacon, ½ cup chopped celery, 1 tablespoon pickle relish and ½ cup mayonnaise. Serve as sandwich spread. Yield: 2 cups.

Now is the time to check the soundness of your roof before winter's snows cover it or heavy rains soak it. In checking the roof be sure the flashing around chimneys and pipes is in good condition and the edges soundly sealed with roofing cement or caulking compound.

Coffee Ring

Whether brunch, Kaffeklatsch or maybe just breakfast time—most any time is ideal for tempting Breakfast Coffee Ring. To prepare, beat one egg slightly. Stir in ¾ cup milk and ⅓ cup melted butter or margarine. Sift together ¾ cup sugar, 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and ¾ teaspoon salt. Add dry ingredients and 1 teaspoon grated orange rind to milk mixture, stirring only until well blended. Pour into a well-greased 9-inch ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool for 5 minutes. Remove from pan. When cool, drizzle confectioners' sugar over top. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Makes one 9-inch ring. This coffee cake may also be baked in an 8-inch square pan.

Packing sweaters for travel? Fold in the sleeves and roll the sweaters to prevent ridges and take less space.

To Season Broiled Meat

Broiled meats should not be seasoned until after browning. Chops and steaks should be broiled on one side, seasoned, turned, broiled on second side and seasoned. If seasoned before browning, moisture is brought to the cut lean surface of the meat and prevents its burning.

Savory Swiss Steak

2 pounds round steak, 1 inch thick
½ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 8-oz. French dressing
2 medium onions, sliced

Cut steak into serving size pieces. Combine flour, salt and pepper and pound into the steak. Heat ¾ cup dressing in a skillet. Add the meat and brown slowly on both sides. Add onions and remaining dressing to cover. Cook slowly for 2 to 2½ hours, until meat is tender.

Frankfurter Supper

Cut 6 frankfurters into ½-inch pieces. Brown frankfurters, 2 tablespoons chopped onion and ¼ cup chopped green pepper in 1 tablespoon lard or drippings. Pour off drippings, add 1 can (16 ounces) cream-style corn and heat through. 3 to 4 servings.

Beef Is Abundant

The supply of beef on the market the last three months of this year is estimated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to reach an all time high.

Confetti Eggnog Pie

A look to the New Year is a look to new holiday foods—foods that are easy to prepare and a delight to serve. Confetti Eggnog Pie is the perfect choice for holiday party planning. And you can be sure it's a new "acquaintance" your party guests and family will long remember.

The chiffon filling is a quickly prepared vanilla creme that's combined with whipped cream for a melt-in-your-mouth texture. Delicate rum flavoring and rich bits of candied fruit add a final touch of elegance. The pastry shell also puts on holiday dress with tiny pastry stars lining the edge.

Prepare Confetti Eggnog Pie in the morning or afternoon before your party. Chill it in the refrigerator, and it's ready to serve any time.

You'll be serving your guests double goodness in Confetti Eggnog Pie. The pastry and all foods baked with enriched flour offer valuable nutrients—iron and three essential B-vitamins.

CONFETTI EGGNOG PIE

Pastry

1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
1½ to 2½ teaspoons cold water

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and press dough together. Roll to circle ⅛ inch thick and fit into 8-inch pie pan. Trim and decorate edge. Prick with fork. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Cool and fill.

Filling

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1½ cups milk
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons enriched flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon rum extract
½ cup candied cherries, cut in halves
½ cup chopped candied citron
½ cup whipping cream

Soften gelatin in cold water. Scald milk. Add sugar and flour to eggs. Mix well. All about half the milk to egg mixture, stirring constantly. Combine milk and egg-milk mixture and return to heat. Bring to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook 2 minutes. Remove from heat and add softened gelatin. Stir until dissolved. Chill until partially set. Fold in rum extract, cherries and citron. Whip cream until stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into cooled pastry shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with additional cherries and whipped cream, if desired. Makes 1 8-inch pie.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

Liver And Bacon Spread

Chop 4 slices bacon and cook until crisp. Remove bacon, cook 1 pound thinly sliced beef or pork liver in bacon drippings slowly until browned but not hard. Put liver through food chopper and combine with bacon, ½ cup chopped celery, 1 tablespoon pickle relish and ½ cup mayonnaise. Serve as sandwich spread. Yield: 2 cups.

Now is the time to check the soundness of your roof before winter's snows cover it or heavy rains soak it. In checking the roof be sure the flashing around chimneys and pipes is in good condition and the edges soundly sealed with roofing cement or caulking compound.

Coffee Ring

Whether brunch, Kaffeklatsch or maybe just breakfast time—most any time is ideal for tempting Breakfast Coffee Ring. To prepare, beat one egg slightly. Stir in ¾ cup milk and ⅓ cup melted butter or margarine. Sift together ¾ cup sugar, 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and ¾ teaspoon salt. Add dry ingredients and 1 teaspoon grated orange rind to milk mixture, stirring only until well blended. Pour into a well-greased 9-inch ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool for 5 minutes. Remove from pan. When cool, drizzle confectioners' sugar over top. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Makes one 9-inch ring. This coffee cake may also be baked in an 8-inch square pan.

Packing sweaters for travel? Fold in the sleeves and roll the sweaters to prevent ridges and take less space.

To Season Broiled Meat

Broiled meats should not be seasoned until after browning. Chops and steaks should be broiled on one side, seasoned, turned, broiled on second side and seasoned. If seasoned before browning, moisture is brought to the cut lean surface of the meat and prevents its burning.

Hash Hawaiian

Shape 1 can (16 ounces) corned beef hash into 4 patties. Brush 4 slices pineapple with butter or margarine. Place one corned beef patty on each slice of pineapple and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes or until patty is lightly browned.

Citrus Salad

Lettuce
Grapefruit sections
Orange sections
Oil and vinegar dressing

Vary Ground Beef

You can add variety to ground beef by adding herbs to produce a unique flavor. Use the herbs cautiously until you discover the greatest flavor appeal. A good rule to follow is ⅛ teaspoon per pound of meat. For stronger seasoning, add ¼ teaspoon per pound.

The cranberry is called "America's native fruit." Found growing wild on the sandy beaches of Cape Cod, the Indians used cranberries with deer meat to make pemmican. It was this combination that was given to the Pilgrims to carry them over the first winter in Plymouth, Mass.

Holiday Party Ham

Glazed Holiday Ham

½ cup butter or margarine
⅓ cup syrup
¼ cup orange (or pineapple) juice
Whole ham, partially cooked and skinned
½ cup (about) red maraschino cherries
Few strips of citron or orange peel
Water cress

Melt shortening. Add maple-blended syrup and juice; blend. Bake ham in slow oven (325°F.) until done, basting with syrup and juice mixture frequently during last hour of baking time. With maraschino cherries, make a holiday wreath; a bow of citron or orange peel. Serve with glazed apples and sprigs of water cress.

Bluebery Cake

Christmas Eve is the family evening when you and your family will be together in the shelter and warmth of your own home. It's the setting for good fun and good food. What is more perfect than a warm, delicious Blueberry Coffee Cake for a Christmas Eve snack. To prepare, melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in the bottom of an 8-inch square pan. Place 1 cup blueberries frozen or canned) in the bottom of the pan, arranging in a 2-inch band around the edge. Sprinkle with ¼ cup sugar. Cream together ¼ cup shortening and ½ cup sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in 1 egg. Sift together 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt; stir in 2 teaspoons grated orange rind. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with ½ cup orange juice. Spread batter over blueberry-sugar layer. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 45 minutes . Makes one 8-inch coffee cake.

Fruits retain most flavor when cooked as fast as possible in a covered saucepan.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Revitalize your fiber brooms with a bath of ammonia water (two quarts warm water to four tablespoons household ammonia). Let bristles soak for half an hour, then rinse and hang in cool place to dry.

Meat, Rice Features

Rice can escort meat to the table in a variety of combinations — broiled lamb chops surrounded by buttered, cooked rice seasoned with curry; broiled pork chops with Spanish rice and a broiled ham slice with buttered, cooked rice and raisins.

Store cauliflower in a cool moist place or in a plastic bag in the refrigerator until ready to use.

Skillet Apple-Ham

1 2-2½ pound ham slice
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons sliced onion
2 cups canned apple sauce
¼cup molasses
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
⅛ teaspoon clove

Trim off excess fat from ham slice; saute in fat in skillet, turning to brown both sides. Remove ham slice; saute onion, until golden brown, in drippings in skillet; combine apple sauce, molasses, mustard and clove; add to onion. Mix well; add ham slice. Cover; simmer 50-60 minutes, or until ham slice is tender. Serve ham with apple sauce gravy. Makes 6 servings.

Note: The ham slice is a ready-to-eat ham.

Hidden Treasure

Liver Needed In Diet

Some kind of liver should be served at least once a week since liver is one of the richest food sources of iron and many other nutrients. Pork liver contains more iron than veal or beef liver.

Perk-up White Sauce

Perk up the flavor of white sauce by adding chipped beef to it. This sauce will accent vegetables and it can be served over opened baked potatoes for a pleasant change.

NOW AT YOUR GROCERS!

Week's Food Economies

This is the season of the year when agricultural economists make known the prospective outlook for food in the coming year. Knowing the food supply situation and productive expectations helps consumers make wise choices for family table fare, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist at the Baltimore office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

Food supplies throughout 1961 will be a little larger than they were this year, with the increase just about matching the increase in population. Consumer demand for food is expected to remain strong since general economic activity and employment will likely be well maintained, with the flow of income to consumers continuing at a high level. Consumption of food per person is expected to be about the same with some minor changes in individual commodities. Retail food prices are expected to average close to those of 1960.

The best buys at the produce counter currently includes white potatoes, onions, cabbage, carrots, and lettuce. Greens which include spinach, kale collards, and turnip tops are also attractive buys.

Supplies of fresh vegetables for the next month are expected to be close to those of last year. Processed vegetables supplies, both canned and frozen are large, above average, though not burdensome.

The supply of potatoes through the winter will be slightly larger.

Total fruit supplies are likely to be a little smaller from now until mid year. Decreases are mainly in apples and pears and some canned fruits, while there is an expected decrease in processed fruits. Carryover stocks partly offset the decrease. Output of frozen fruits will not be greatly different. The citrus crop will not be greatly different.

Livestock production and slaughter is expected to show modest gains with enough increase to supply each consumer with about four pounds more meat than 1960. Most of the increase is expected in beef. Pork supplies will be less plentiful during the first half of the year. Lamb supplies will remain about the same as 1960.

The outlook is for larger supplies of poultry. More eggs are expected the last half of the year. Dairy supplies are expected to be about the same.

Hash Hawaiian

Shape 1 can (16 ounces) corned beef hash into 4 patties. Brush 4 slices pineapple with butter or margarine. Place one corned beef patty on each slice of pineapple and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes or until patty is lightly browned.

Citrus Salad

Lettuce
Grapefruit sections
Orange sections
Oil and vinegar dressing

Vary Ground Beef

You can add variety to ground beef by adding herbs to produce a unique flavor. Use the herbs cautiously until you discover the greatest flavor appeal. A good rule to follow is ⅛ teaspoon per pound of meat. For stronger seasoning, add ¼ teaspoon per pound.

The cranberry is called "America's native fruit." Found growing wild on the sandy beaches of Cape Cod, the Indians used cranberries with deer meat to make pemmican. It was this combination that was given to the Pilgrims to carry them over the first winter in Plymouth, Mass.

Holiday Party Ham

Glazed Holiday Ham

½ cup butter or margarine
⅓ cup syrup
¼ cup orange (or pineapple) juice
Whole ham, partially cooked and skinned
½ cup (about) red maraschino cherries
Few strips of citron or orange peel
Water cress

Melt shortening. Add maple-blended syrup and juice; blend. Bake ham in slow oven (325°F.) until done, basting with syrup and juice mixture frequently during last hour of baking time. With maraschino cherries, make a holiday wreath; a bow of citron or orange peel. Serve with glazed apples and sprigs of water cress.

Bluebery Cake

Christmas Eve is the family evening when you and your family will be together in the shelter and warmth of your own home. It's the setting for good fun and good food. What is more perfect than a warm, delicious Blueberry Coffee Cake for a Christmas Eve snack. To prepare, melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in the bottom of an 8-inch square pan. Place 1 cup blueberries frozen or canned) in the bottom of the pan, arranging in a 2-inch band around the edge. Sprinkle with ¼ cup sugar. Cream together ¼ cup shortening and ½ cup sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in 1 egg. Sift together 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt; stir in 2 teaspoons grated orange rind. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with ⅓ cup orange juice. Spread batter over blueberry-sugar layer. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 45 minutes . Makes one 8-inch coffee cake.

Fruits retain most flavor when cooked as fast as possible in a covered saucepan.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Revitalize your fiber brooms with a bath of ammonia water (two quarts warm water to four tablespoons household ammonia). Let bristles soak for half an hour, then rinse and hang in cool place to dry.

Meat, Rice Features

Rice can escort meat to the table in a variety of combinations — broiled lamb chops surrounded by buttered, cooked rice seasoned with curry; broiled pork chops with Spanish rice and a broiled ham slice with buttered, cooked rice and raisins.

Store cauliflower in a cool moist place or in a plastic bag in the refrigerator until ready to use.

Skillet Apple-Ham

1 2-2½ pound ham slice
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons sliced onion
2 cups canned apple sauce
¼cup molasses
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
⅛ teaspoon clove

Trim off excess fat from ham slice; saute in fat in skillet, turning to brown both sides. Remove ham slice; saute onion, until golden brown, in drippings in skillet; combine apple sauce, molasses, mustard and clove; add to onion. Mix well; add ham slice. Cover; simmer 50-60 minutes, or until ham slice is tender. Serve ham with apple sauce gravy. Makes 6 servings.

Note: The ham slice is a ready-to-eat ham.

Hidden Treasure

Liver Needed In Diet

Some kind of liver should be served at least once a week since liver is one of the richest food sources of iron and many other nutrients. Pork liver contains more iron than veal or beef liver.

Perk-up White Sauce

Perk up the flavor of white sauce by adding chipped beef to it. This sauce will accent vegetables and it can be served over opened baked potatoes for a pleasant change.

Week's Food Economies

This is the season of the year when agricultural economists make known the prospective outlook for food in the coming year. Knowing the food supply situation and productive expectations helps consumers make wise choices for family table fare, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist at the Baltimore office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

Food supplies throughout 1961 will be a little larger than they were this year, with the increase just about matching the increase in population. Consumer demand for food is expected to remain strong since general economic activity and employment will likely be well maintained, with the flow of income to consumers continuing at a high level. Consumption of food per person is expected to be about the same with some minor changes in individual commodities. Retail food prices are expected to average close to those of 1960.

The best buys at the produce counter currently includes white potatoes, onions, cabbage, carrots, and lettuce. Greens which include spinach, kale collards, and turnip tops are also attractive buys.

Supplies of fresh vegetables for the next month are expected to be close to those of last year. Processed vegetables supplies, both canned and frozen are large, above average, though not burdensome.

The supply of potatoes through the winter will be slightly larger.

Total fruit supplies are likely to be a little smaller from now until mid year. Decreases are mainly in apples and pears and some canned fruits, while there is an expected decrease in processed fruits. Carryover stocks partly offset the decrease. Output of frozen fruits will not be greatly different. The citrus crop will not be greatly different.

Livestock production and slaughter is expected to show modest gains with enough increase to supply each consumer with about four pounds more meat than 1960. Most of the increase is expected in beef. Pork supplies will be less plentiful during the first half of the year. Lamb supplies will remain about the same as 1960.

The outlook is for larger supplies of poultry. More eggs are expected the last half of the year. Dairy supplies are expected to be about the same.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Jill St. John must be tired of bangles, baubles, and furs. She leaves immediately for London to join Vivien Leigh and Warren Beatty in "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone."

I was surprised to hear that she leaves her bridegroom Lance Reventlow on their very first Christmas since their marriage, but she couldn't bear to turn this movie down in which she gets her biggest chance to date. She was borrowed by Eliot Hyman from Robert Goldstein.

Lance has promised to join her later, but as far as I know they won't be together at Christmas. Of course Lance could always change his mind and fly over to England for the holidays.

Just back from Rome, Jim Nicholson, president of American-International, telephoned to tell me about a new purchase they have made.

"It's one of the first horror pictures made in Italy and it's in the tradition of 'Dracula' with the title 'Black Sunday'," he said. "Les Baxter is re-scoring it, and we are going to insist children under 14 be kept away—that's how scary it is."

Nicholson's partner Sam Arkoff is celebrating his 12th wedding anniversary in the blizzards in New York. Their movie "Konja", which stars Claire Gordon, comely young British actress, will open in March.

As I was leaving Merle Oberon's party, Jean Negulesco and Dusty walked in. Jean told me that he leaves within a week for Sicily to start preparation on "Apple Pie Bed," which loses that strange title in favor of "Angela" (which I like much better).

Angie Dickinson leaves shortly for Sicily to play the femme lead. She'll join Maurice Chevalier and Vittorio De Sica who have the top male roles. Jean said he would be gone three months and Dusty will go with him. They are having Christmas here for their small children before they leave.

"This year will be the first time in the 12 years of our marriage that both Lita's family and mine will all be able to be together at Christmas," writes Rory. "Our youngest, Tami, has a birthday Dec. 25, and we are really looking forward to a wonderful Christmas.

"After six months away from our Golden State while I was making 'Treasure of Monte Cristo,' we are all homesick for our friends and our home, so we will see you soon."

Direct from Paris where Joanne Woodward and Paul Newman are still working on "Paris Blues," they both send word there are no marital troubles and Joanne is not expecting a baby, as was reported.

In fact, they say the only problems are on getting "Paris Blues" finished, and regretting they cannot be in the U.S.A., for Christmas.

I am certainly glad there are no troubles in the Newman household. I happen to be very fond of both Joanne and Paul and of their cute baby daughter Nell.

Received an autographed copy of Art Linkletter's "Confessions of a Happy Man," and I took time out to read it. Art tells of when he first started out on his career in Hollywood and that he was introduced to me by Maggie Ettinger. He said that due to some unfortunate circumstance on one of his shows that the Hearst newspapers took exception to, he was in very bad until I came to the rescue and made things right between them.

Art's love of children probably stems from the fact that his own parents, whose name was Kelly, gave him out for adoption when he was born, and he never knew them. His book is fascinating, and one of the best of the current autobiographies.

It took a bit of doing, but Billy Wilder generally gets what he goes after. He's engaged Loring Mandel, author of the play "Advise and Consent," to adapt "Children's Hour" for Audrey Hepburn and Shirley MacLaine.

It starts in May and Billy is already hard at work.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 NT
Pass	3 NT	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠

In his anxiety to gain an inconsequential 30 points, South, in today's hand, tossed off a wrapped-up and ready-to-deliver game.

South elected to open the bidding in fourth position with one no trump. Although this is a bit unorthodox with two doubletons and a six card suit, he felt that it was the most descriptive call on his holding and would avoid rebid complications which might follow the more nomal bid of one diamond. North, of course, had ample material for a raise to three no trump.

West opened the four of spades. In the hope that the lead had been made away from the king, declarer played low from dummy with the intention of winning three tricks in the suit. East won the trick with the king and, seeing no future in continuing with partner's suit, shifted to the five of hearts.

West won with the ace, and the return of the suit drove out declarer's only stopper. Everything now depended upon the diamond suit, so declarer entered dummy with a club and tried the diamond finesse. When this failed, defenders took, in all, five hearts, a diamond and a club, sending the declarer down to a three trick set.

An extra trick in spades should have been the least of declarer's concerns. He ought to have considered himself fortunate not to have been exposed to the opening lead of a heart and should have played the ace of spades at trick one in order to start development of the diamond suit. Such action would have assured him of nine tricks regardless of the distribution of the adverse cards.

HOLLYWOOD — Jill St. John must be tired of bangles, baubles, and furs. She leaves immediately for London to join Vivien Leigh and Warren Beatty in "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone."

I was surprised to hear that she leaves her bridegroom Lance Reventlow on their very first Christmas since their marriage, but she couldn't bear to turn this movie down in which she gets her biggest chance to date. She was borrowed by Eliot Hyman from Robert Goldstein.

Lance has promised to join her later, but as far as I know they won't be together at Christmas. Of course Lance could always change his mind and fly over to England for the holidays.

Just back from Rome, Jim Nicholson, president of American-International, telephoned to tell me about a new purchase they have made.

"It's one of the first horror pictures made in Italy and it's in the tradition of 'Dracula' with the title 'Black Sunday'," he said. "Les Baxter is re-scoring it, and we are going to insist children under 14 be kept away—that's how scary it is."

Nicholson's partner Sam Arkoff is celebrating his 12th wedding anniversary in the blizzards in New York. Their movie "Konja", which stars Claire Gordon, comely young British actress, will open in March.

As I was leaving Merle Oberon's party, Jean Negulesco and Dusty walked in. Jean told me that he leaves within a week for Sicily to start preparation on "Apple Pie Bed," which loses that strange title in favor of "Angela" (which I like much better).

Angie Dickinson leaves shortly for Sicily to play the femme lead. She'll join Maurice Chevalier and Vittorio De Sica who have the top male roles. Jean said he would be gone three months and Dusty will go with him. They are having Christmas here for their small children before they leave.

"This year will be the first time in the 12 years of our marriage that both Lita's family and mine will all be able to be together at Christmas," writes Rory. "Our youngest, Tami, has a birthday Dec. 25, and we are really looking forward to a wonderful Christmas.

"After six months away from our Golden State while I was making 'Treasure of Monte Cristo,' we are all homesick for our friends and our home, so we will see you soon."

Direct from Paris where Joanne Woodward and Paul Newman are still working on "Paris Blues," they both send word there are no marital troubles and Joanne is not expecting a baby, as was reported.

In fact, they say the only problems are on getting "Paris Blues" finished, and regretting they cannot be in the U.S.A., for Christmas.

I am certainly glad there are no troubles in the Newman household. I happen to be very fond of both Joanne and Paul and of their cute baby daughter Nell.

Received an autographed copy of Art Linkletter's "Confessions of a Happy Man," and I took time out to read it. Art tells of when he first started out on his career in Hollywood and that he was introduced to me by Maggie Ettinger. He said that due to some unfortunate circumstance on one of his shows that the Hearst newspapers took exception to, he was in very bad until I came to the rescue and made things right between them.

Art's love of children probably stems from the fact that his own parents, whose name was Kelly, gave him out for adoption when he was born, and he never knew them. His book is fascinating, and one of the best of the current autobiographies.

It took a bit of doing, but Billy Wilder generally gets what he goes after. He's engaged Loring Mandel, author of the play "Advise and Consent," to adapt "Children's Hour" for Audrey Hepburn and Shirley MacLaine.

It starts in May and Billy is already hard at work.

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 NT
Pass	3 NT	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠

In his anxiety to gain an inconsequential 30 points, South, in today's hand, tossed off a wrapped-up and ready-to-deliver game.

South elected to open the bidding in fourth position with one no trump. Although this is a bit unorthodox with two doubletons and a six card suit, he felt that it was the most descriptive call on his holding and would avoid rebid complications which might follow the more nomal bid of one diamond. North, of course, had ample material for a raise to three no trump.

West opened the four of spades. In the hope that the lead had been made away from the king, declarer played low from dummy with the intention of winning three tricks in the suit. East won the trick with the king and, seeing no future in continuing with partner's suit, shifted to the five of hearts.

West won with the ace, and the return of the suit drove out declarer's only stopper. Everything now depended upon the diamond suit, so declarer entered dummy with a club and tried the diamond finesse. When this failed, defenders took, in all, five hearts, a diamond and a club, sending the declarer down to a three trick set.

An extra trick in spades should have been the least of declarer's concerns. He ought to have considered himself fortunate not to have been exposed to the opening lead of a heart and should have played the ace of spades at trick one in order to start development of the diamond suit. Such action would have assured him of nine tricks regardless of the distribution of the adverse cards.

Somerset County Maple Festival Dates Changed To October; Contest In April

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—Two important changes were announced this week for the Fourteenth Annual Somerset County Maple Festival of Pennsylvania, Inc. General Chairman, H. Andrew Horchner of Meyersdale, reported that Wednesday, April 5, 1961 has been set for the Maple Queen Contest, with the Annual Maple Festival to follow on Friday through Sunday, October 6-8, 1961.

Notice of the changes with all information concerning the Maple Queen Contest is now being sent to 12 Somerset County High Schools, which have been participating yearly.

Primary reason for changing dates of the Maple Queen Contest as well as the Maple Festival, declared Mr. Horchner, is the anticipation of more favorable weather than in some former years. In addition, the general chairman said the natural beauty of maple leaves and milder temperatures in October should be an inducement for more people to visit Somerset County than ever before.

Mr. Horchner announced that tours of area maple camps during the maple season (February-April), will be promoted with utmost fervor. The traditional opening of the season ceremonies will be observed as in former years.

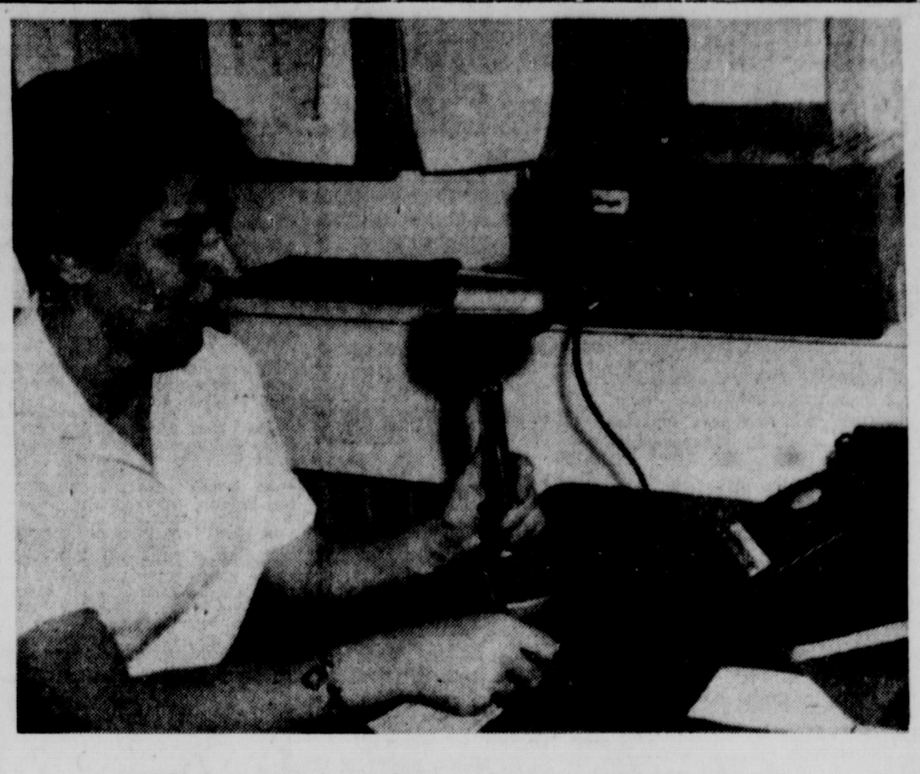
Ever since its organization, the Somerset County Maple Festival has been conducted in two phases. First was the selection of a maple queen, maids of honor and maple princesses in a contest held annually in February.

The pageantry of the Maple Festival, tours of maple camps, etc., then followed in a three-day event late in March or early April. The decision to change the celebration to later dates came after consultation with Meyersdale Chamber of Commerce board of directors, area high schools and others who participate in and work with the maple industry promotion.

While this is Mr. Horchner's first year as general chairman of the Maple Festival, he has a long record of community and civic service. Currently he is serving as secretary of the Meyersdale Community Hospital board of directors and is a member of the Meyersdale Area School Board.

He is a past president of Meyersdale Rotary Club and served as Governor of District 733, Rotary International, in 1958-59. During 1959-60 he was a Rotary International counsellor. The Maple City business man also served as president of the Meyersdale Community Park Association. He is active in Zion Lutheran Church in Meyersdale.

Appointments to date by Mr. Horchner are: James W. Knecht, treasurer; Mrs. D. Jay Meyers, secretary, and Herman E. Basehore, publicity chairman. Mrs. Harry O. Wolfe, Jr. has been selected as chairlady of the important queen's committee. All are from Meyersdale.



Miners Hospital Gets New PA System

Mrs. Delores Brady, account clerk at Miners Hospital, is shown here using the new Public Address system that was recently installed in the hospital through the efforts of the auxiliary which raised the money and purchased the equipment. James Bangerd, administrator, stated the system has speakers installed in all departments and on all floors of the hospital. The microphone being used by Mrs. Brady is located in the main office and may be used to locate any hospital personnel immediately in case of any emergency. It may also be used in cases of fire or any other conditions where it may be necessary to instruct personnel and patients in cases of evacuation.

Santa To Attend K. of C. Yule Party

nor would have to use practically all of the $11,038,913 surplus picked up over the past two years plus the $12 million Revenue Deficiency Fund he had set aside by law for a "rainy day".

Leave State In Hole

This, in the opinion of fiscal experts, would leaves the State in a hole the following year when the budget could be expected to increase at least another $17 million.

Revenue estimators admitted that their projections were "conservative" but said they had to be in the light of unforeseeable economic conditions.

"If we're going to protect ourselves through fiscal 1963, we're going to have to provide a tax program at the coming session of the legislature to offset the cost of the James Committee recommendations and the salary increases for state employes," Budget Director James G. Rennie commented.

The bureau of revenue estimates missed its guess on tax collections in the current year by about $5 million. Both the sales and income taxes brought in revenue faster than anticipated. Income tax collections are expected to be 11 per cent over those of last year, but revenue officials don't look for the trend to continue at that high level.

But W. Irvin Young, chief of the bureau, said the income from general fund taxes should continue rising year by year.

In forecasting collection of $237,700,835 for fiscal year 1963, which doesn't begin for another 18 months, he said:

"The current estimates assume that the national economy is coming out of its static period of recent months and that a period of rising activity is ahead. An important figure in the offing may be the new economic policies that will probably result from the coming political change in the national administration in Washington."

He said the most recent collections of sales and income taxes indicate "that the Maryland economy is in a pronounced upward trend buoyed in large part by its significant population growth."

But he said he was not willing to go beyond forecasting a rise of $5 million each in general fund revenue over the next two years.

Church Choir Plans Cantata

The Adult Choir of First Evangelical United Brethren Church will present a Christmas Cantata on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The program, "The Gospel Song of Christmas," is by Ellen Jane Lorenz and will be under the direction of Joseph S. Shuman.

Leading roles in the cantata will include Miss Nancy Shuman who will sing "The Uninvited;" Ralph Isiminger Jr., singing "Christ the Savior is Born;" Miss Andra Getz who will sing, "Thou Shalt Call His Name Jesus;" Mrs. Helen Nesbitt and "Chirstmas Lullaby;" Milton Johnson and Ralph Mahaney Jr., who will sing "The Rose of Sharon;" and Mrs. Helen Brake, Mrs. Hilda Snider and Mrs. Ethel Shoemaker, who will present "The Light of the World of Jesus." Mrs. Alice Campbell will sing "To Save Us Sinners."

Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor of the church, will be the reader for the cantata, Mrs. Nelliemae Redhead will be at the organ. The public is invited to attend the evening program.

nor would have to use practically all of the $11,038,913 surplus picked up over the past two years plus the $12 million Revenue Deficiency Fund he had set aside by law for a "rainy day".

Leave State In Hole

This, in the opinion of fiscal experts, would leaves the State in a hole the following year when the budget could be expected to increase at least another $17 million.

Revenue estimators admitted that their projections were "conservative" but said they had to be in the light of unforeseeable economic conditions.

"If we're going to protect ourselves through fiscal 1963, we're going to have to provide a tax program at the coming session of the legislature to offset the cost of the James Committee recommendations and the salary increases for state employes," Budget Director James G. Rennie commented.

The bureau of revenue estimates missed its guess on tax collections in the current year by about $5 million. Both the sales and income taxes brought in revenue faster than anticipated. Income tax collections are expected to be 11 per cent over those of last year, but revenue officials don't look for the trend to continue at that high level.

But W. Irvin Young, chief of the bureau, said the income from general fund taxes should continue rising year by year.

In forecasting collection of $237,700,835 for fiscal year 1963, which doesn't begin for another 18 months, he said:

"The current estimates assume that the national economy is coming out of its static period of recent months and that a period of rising activity is ahead. An important figure in the offing may be the new economic policies that will probably result from the coming political change in the national administration in Washington."

He said the most recent collections of sales and income taxes indicate "that the Maryland economy is in a pronounced upward trend buoyed in large part by its significant population growth."

But he said he was not willing to go beyond forecasting a rise of $5 million each in general fund revenue over the next two years.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son is a good-looking fellow, 23. He has a fine position and should amount to something someday. Chuck has dated many girls in the last five years but he never was serious until now.

Along came this little snip who is determined to get him by hook or by crook. The big problem is the hours he keeps. Every Saturday night he is out until 4 a. m., then he has to get up early Sunday morning to cart the girl to church. We don't see him until early Monday morning.

The snip has such a stranglehold on Chuck it has made me dislike her intensely. I'll never accept her into the family and he knows it. Do I have a right to feel this way? Please tell me what you think about the awful hours he keeps. I get no help from my husband.

—HURT MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A fellow 23 is a grown man. His mother should not be telling him what time to come home.

More important than the hours is your feeling of hostility toward the girl. Your declaration of war has put you out on a limb—and you're going to find that limb sawed off.

Stop playing watch dog and find something to admire about the girl. A mother who attacks her son's choice forces him to defend her. The girl then becomes terribly important to him and sometimes he marries her out of spite.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I agreed before we married last July that we would both quit smoking.

I was a heavier smoker than Clyde so I knew it would be more difficult for me. Last January I couldn't stand it so I started to smoke behind his back. I knew if he caught me the war would be on.

Last night when Clyde came home from work he smelled smoke in the house. He said "Who's been smoking?" I told him the electrician had been in to fix the wall-heaters. He asked me when electricians started to wear lipstick. I knew I was sunk.

Now he says the only way I can make things right is to stop smoking. I enjoy smoking and don't see why I should quit. I tried and I can't do it. What is your liberal opinion?

—CHIMNEY KATE

DEAR CHIMNEY: Can't never did anything—and it never will. My "liberal" opinion is that a woman who agreed to quit smoking should have stayed off the weed or told her husband she was welshing on her agreement. Sneaking puffs behind his back put you at an 11-year-old level and lying about it to cover up compounded the felony.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This may seem like a small problem to you but it is causing me sleepless nights. I recently divorced a man after three years of trying in vain to get him to grow up. I won't go into detail because he is no longer a problem.

I'm writing about my bed sheets and pillow cases. They keep coming back from the laundry with my old initials stamped in indelible ink. True, the initials are in the corners, but I know they're there and it has a bad effect on me. Do you know of anything that will remove these marks?

—CODDY

DEAR CODDY: A scissors.

Checkan, Allen And Fahey Score Total 80 Points

Potomac State College extended its winning streak to three games and brought its season record up to 4-4 by defeating the Shepherd College Rams in an 89-87 thriller last night at Keyser.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts pulled the game out of the fire in the closing seconds by scoring two field goals in rapid succession after the score had been knotted for the seventh time. Stanley Shingleton's basket broke the last tie at 85-85 and Fahey's goal decided the issue.

Potomac took an early lead and was on top by 46-41 when the first half ended. Shepherd forged to the fore at 49-47 and before the final whistle the score was tied at 49, 51, 73, 80, 82, 84 and 85.

The victory was the first in four outings for Potomac State in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference this season.

Mike Checkan of Passaic, N. J., John Allen of Fayetteville, W. Va., and John Fahey of Point Pleasant Beach, N. J., were the standout players for Potomac. The trio accounted for all but nine of their team's points. Checkan topped in 36 tallies with 13 field goals and 10-17 fouls, Allan scored 10 fielders and meshed 10 of 11 free throws for 30 markers and Fahey contributed 14 points and also excelled in rebounding.

Shepherd outscored Potomac 40 to 31 in field goals but the Catamounts sewed up the decision at the foul line by hooping 27 of 37 shots while the Rams converted 7 out of 12.

Bill Kennedy of Potomac and Dean and Pitzer of Shepherd fouled out.

Steel Bowl Tourney Will Open Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Duquesne meets Tennessee Friday night in the opening game of the annual Steel Bowl basketball tournament with the Dukes a slight favorite to upend the undefeated, sophomore-dominated Vols.

Pitt, the defending champion, plays Colgate in the nightcap and the so-called "experts" view the clash as a tossup. Colgate is also undefeated while the Panthers have lost three of four starts.

Steeler's Earnings Are Ordered Held

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Allegheny County Sheriff's office Thursday served a writ on the Pittsburgh Steelers Football Club, directing it to hold in escrow, pending court action, all of fullback John Henry Johnson's earnings.

The writ of attachment was obtained against Johnson, star of last Sunday's 27-21 upset victory over the Philadelphia Eagles, by his former wife, Barbara. She claimed he is $6,650 in arrears in alimony and support payments for five minor children.

Mrs. Johnson said the hard-running back agreed to alimony and support payments when granted a divorce in June, 1958 but since had defaulted.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

THE WOMAN who recently invented a nose warmer for winter-time wear would do the sports world a service if she would put her talents to developing a nose covering to keep out the smell of the racketeers in boxing.

And, she might attend one of the Senate investigating committee hearings in Washington. She'd get so nauseated by the odor she'd just have to do something about it.

The boxing world, which always had a nasty touch because of the underworld grab and control and patronage, is in worse shape than we thought, judging by the confessions of promoters, fight managers and boxers before the Senate committee.

Probably the most amazing item is the hold these ringside parasites had on the big guys, like Truman Gibson and Jim Norris of the once-haughty IBC.

Norris, it appears, let the racketeers dictate to him, a millionaire who didn't have to seek favor or even enter the rugged sport of the ring.

And, on down the line, the managers—not all of them—and the fighters had to go along with the gag, put there by the Frankie Carbos and other hoodlums.

THE SMELL, which has added to the demise of boxing as a major attraction, has hit the respectable and disreputable alike and that's the bad part of it.

We know some nice, honest fighters. But even they have to be sucked into the spider's web at times because of strange manipulations of promotion, championship opportunities and "convincers" in the background.

Fighters rating a chance at the title sometimes have had to wait for years. And others, who aren't qualified, get the chance.

It appeared for a while that when Ingemar Johansson burst on the scene and a new promoter stepped into the picture in the big city, New York, which leads the way, boxing finally would draw some clean breaths.

But look what happened here! Bill Rosensohn, the young promoter, not only lost his shirt, but his license, too, and another group moved in for the next one.

The current investigation may be another, if, once and for all, that underworld-racketeer segment can be disposed of for good.

Champ Shot Putter Is Warned To Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Olympic shotput champion Bill Nieder has been warned to quit the sport or risk permanent injury to his damaged knee, the Army Times said Thursday.

The injury is also forcing the beefy Nieder, who is a first lieutenant in the infantry, out of the Army, the service publication said in a story by sportswriter George Maker.

Nieder, who bettered all existing shotput records with a toss of 65 feet 10 inches on his way to the Olympic championship, is stationed at the Presidio in San Francisco.

Steel Bowl Tourney Will Open Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Duquesne meets Tennessee Friday night in the opening game of the annual Steel Bowl basketball tournament with the Dukes a slight favorite to upend the undefeated, sophomore-dominated Vols.

Pitt, the defending champion, plays Colgate in the nightcap and the so-called "experts" view the clash as a tossup. Colgate is also undefeated while the Panthers have lost three of four starts.

Steeler's Earnings Are Ordered Held

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Allegheny County Sheriff's office Thursday served a writ on the Pittsburgh Steelers Football Club, directing it to hold in escrow, pending court action, all of fullback John Henry Johnson's earnings.

The writ of attachment was obtained against Johnson, star of last Sunday's 27-21 upset victory over the Philadelphia Eagles, by his former wife, Barbara. She claimed he is $6,656 in arrears in alimony and support payments for five minor children.

Mrs. Johnson said the hard-running back agreed to alimony and support payments when granted a divorce in June, 1958 but since had defaulted.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

THE WOMAN who recently invented a nose warmer for winter-time wear would do the sports world a service if she would put her talents to developing a nose covering to keep out the smell of the racketeers in boxing.

And, she might attend one of the Senate investigating committee hearings in Washington. She'd get so nauseated by the odor she'd just have to do something about it.

The boxing world, which always had a nasty touch because of the underworld grab and control and patronage, is in worse shape than we thought, judging by the confessions of promoters, fight managers and boxers before the Senate committee.

Probably the most amazing item is the hold these ringside parasites had on the big guys, like Truman Gibson and Jim Norris of the once-haughty IBC.

Norris, it appears, let the racketeers dictate to him, a millionaire who didn't have to seek favor or even enter the rugged sport of the ring.

And, on down the line, the managers—not all of them—and the fighters had to go along with the gag, put there by the Frankie Carbos and other hoodlums.

* * *

THE SMELL, which has added to the demise of boxing as a major attraction, has hit the respectable and disreputable alike and that's the bad part of it.

We know some nice, honest fighters. But even they have to be sucked into the spider's web at times because of strange manipulations of promotion, championship opportunities and "convincers" in the background.

It appeared for a while that when Ingemar Johansson burst on the scene and a new promoter stepped into the picture in the big city, New York, which leads the way, boxing finally would draw some clean breaths.

But look what happened here! Bill Rosensohn, the young promoter, not only lost his shirt, but his license, too, and another group moved in for the next one.

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Duke's eighth-ranked Blue Devils put together two almost even halves Thursday night and whipped Clemson 75-58 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

Champ Shot Putter Is Warned To Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Olympic shotput champion Bill Nieder has been warned to quit the sport or risk permanent injury to his damaged knee, the Army Times said Thursday.

The injury is also forcing the beefy Nieder, who is a first lieutenant in the infantry, out of the Army, the service publication said in a story by sportswriter George Maker.

Nieder, who bettered all existing shotput records with a toss of 65 feet 10 inches on his way to the Olympic championship, is stationed at the Presidio in San Francisco.

Six PVC Games Slated; Paw Paw Tourney Opens

The 1960-61 edition of Allegany High School basketball teams makes its debut tonight when it faces Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs on the Campobello court at 8 o'clock.

Coach Chester G. Payne has the same team back that captured the W.M.I. League championship last season, reached the semi-finals of the state Class A tournament before bowing to Bladensburg and wound up the campaign with a 16-8 record.

Mervin Pope, who led the W.M.I. League scorers with 203 points in ten games, and headed the C.V.A. League scoring procession with 170 tallies last season, heads the Camper squad. Other holdovers include Bob Gaffney, Jerry Pentoney, Gary Mulligan and Wayne Shook of the 1959-60 starting five along with Doug Luzier and Jerry Clingerman. Several promising players up from the Jayvee team round out the squad of 14.

Allegany is not a member of the C.V.A.L. this season but Martinsburg, coached by George Whitacre, has retained its berth. The Bulldogs won the league title last season with an 8-2 record and split a pair of games with the Campers. Martinsburg won the opener at home, 61-60 but dropped the return game at Campobello, 62-59.

Mt. Savage at LaSalle

LaSalle's Explorers play their third game of the week tonight when they host John Thomas' Mt. Savage High School Indians on SS. Peter & Paul court at 8 o'clock. LaSalle is 2-1 for the campaign while Mt. Savage has split even in two outings.

Six Potomac Valley Conference games appear on tonight's slate.

Southern's Highlanders visit Romney High School, Elk Garden tests Keyser at the latter place, Franklin's Panthers are at Circleville and Mathias hosts Wardensville in other conference games on tonight's card.

Bruce High's Bulldogs will be gunning for their fourth win in a row when they face the Fort Ashby Eagles at Westernport tonight. Coach Leonard Ritchie's quint has knocked off Northern, Southern and Elk Garden while Fort Ashby owns a 3-1 record.

Chambers Has Five Winners At Pimlico

Arthur Misses Sixth On Disqualification

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 15 (AP) — Arthur Chambers, 21-year-old rider from Brooklyn, N. Y., actually finished first in six races here at Pimlico today, but gets credit for only five winners in the record books.

Last Slam, who returned only $3.60 for $2, was the third winner of the program ridden by Chambers for Trainer Harry Eklof, of Baltimore.

Five winners is a record for the 1960 season at Maryland's three major tracks, but he needed the winner on which he was disqualified to equal the mark of six victories set by Larry Reynolds at the little Hagerstown race course on October 1.

He got home in front from the second race through the sixth event, but Sakuntala, with which he won the fifth race, was disqualified by the stewards. He was out of the money with Market Risk, a 40-to-1 chance, in the seventh race and then returned to the charmed circle on Last Slam.

Chambers' other winners were: Tornat ($13.80) in the second race, Macte ($13.40) in the third event, Bremerton ($8.80) in the fourth race and King Cotton ($12.80) in the sixth attraction.

Phils Trade Gene Conley To Red Sox For Sullivan

Quinn Says Deal Not Made Because Of Personalities

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies in a swap of pitchers Thursday sent Gene Conley to the Boston Red Sox for Frank Sullivan, resolving a bitter player-manager dispute.

Conley, who plays for the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association during the winter, and Phillies Manager Gene Mauch exchanged heated words two days before the end of last season.

Reportedly, Mauch, angered by a poor relief job by the 6-foot-8 Conley, said to the pitcher:

John Quinn, Phillies general manager, insists the deal was not made because of personalities. He said the trade was made because the Phillies coveted Sullivan, right-hander who won 6 and lost 16 for the Red Sox a year ago.

Because of his basketball playing, Conley reports a month late for spring training missing about 20 games at the start of the season. The Phillies hoped he would give up basketball and concentrate on baseball. Conley wanted to make up for his basketball salary. This the Phillies wouldn't do, mark with the last-place Phillies last year compiled an 8-14 won 12 and lost 7 in 1959, and

Legislative Group Wants Races At Fairgo Abandoned

Three Milers Would Share Twelve Days

Favor Creating Job Of Racing Director To Enforce Rules

The committee, headed by State Sen. George B. Rasin, D - Kent, also said an experiment with night racing for thoroughbreds "would not necessarily be detrimental" to the sport.

There was no direct mention in the committee's report of the recent purchase of Bel Air, a half-mile thoroughbred track, by Baltimore Raceway, a harness track. The deal is believed to be the forerunner of application by the raceway for permission to conduct night races for thoroughbreds.

Would Abandon Fairgo

The committee recommended that Cumberland, one of the five half-mile tracks now assigned 12 days each, be abandoned and that its days be divided equally among the state's three one-mile tracks—Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie.

Cumberland, facing stiff competition from Charles Town and Shenandoah Downs in nearby West Virginia, has been unable to attract enough horses. Its last two meetings were held at Hagerstown and Timonium half-mile tracks.

Other Recommendations

1. The consolidation of Rosecroft and Laurel Raceway, two of the four harness tracks.

2. The use of movie houses with closed-circuit television as possible sites for off-track betting—"if it is ever in the future deemed necessary or advisable from the standpoint of revenue to have off-track betting." The introduction of off-track betting is not advisable now, the committee added.

3. The reduction of nine - race programs to eight races at Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie, except on Saturdays and holidays, and the use of five-days-a-week schedules to include more Saturday racing and thereby boost State revenues.

Doubleheaders Opposed

4. A prohibition against "Pic-Six" betting and morning-afternoon doubleheader racing programs.

5. The creation of the job of executive director of racing to enforce the rules and regulations of the five-member racing commission.

6. Vigilance and action by the commission to prevent harm to Maryland racing by interests which own tracks outside the state, as well as Maryland tracks. (The owners of Pimlico also operate the Charles Town track in West Virginia.)

7. The establishment of a special fund for purses to be put up for races open to Maryland-bred horses as an encouragement to local breeders.

Antagonism Scored

The committee devoted a special section in its report to intertrack cooperation and public relations. It said it found many Maryland track employes "somewhat less than polite" and evidence of "mutual antagonism" among operators of the three major tracks. The antagonism "is distinctly detrimental to the orderly conduct and the quality of Maryland racing," the committee said.

"It is the recommendation of this committee that if this antagonism "is distinctly detrimental to the orderly conduct and the quality of Maryland racing," the committee said.

"It is the recommendation of this committee that if this antagonism persists to the detriment of present Maryland racing," the committee added, "or if the antagonism inhibits the growth of Maryland racing to its heretofore unrealized potential, the legislature study the establishment of a nonprofit corporation to run Maryland mile racing or the taking over of mile racing by the State."

For years it has been suggested that a schedule enabling Maryland tracks to run against a minimum of competition from non-Maryland tracks—even if this means winter racing—is most profitable to the tracks and the State.

Hitting Home Runs Will Be Made Easier

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hitting home runs will be easier in Candlestick Park in 1961.

The Giants made the decision after a survey by engineer Robert Kinglsey of St. Louis, who has spent 15 years studying major league home run statistics.

Ohio State Drew 413,583 For Top Attendance Mark

National College Total Of 20,403,409 Is All-Time High

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — College football attendance, aided by favorable weather and a sharp rise in the Rocky Mountain area, soared over the 20-million mark for the first time this year.

A total of 20,403,409 persons viewed games this season, according to a survey of 620 colleges conducted by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. This represented a 4.02 per cent increase over 1959 and topepd the previous high of 19,651,995 set in 1949.

Records also were set this year in average attendance, 7,523 per game, and in season average, 32,909 per home schedule.

Gain For 7th Year

It was the seventh consecutive season that attendance at college games increased over the previous year. Over the last five years, the attendance has jumped 18 per cent.

College officials reported that only 13.6 per cent of their games were played in "unfavorable weather" this year compared to 41.6 per cent in 1959.

Five of the seven geographical sections of the country showed increases in 1960, topped by a 26.38 per cent rise in the Rockies. Attendance was up 11.62 per cent in the Midlands, 7.32 per cent in the East, 5.46 per cent in the South, and 1.98 per cent in the Midwest.

Dip In Southwest

Ohio State was the individual leader for the third straight year and the sixth time in eight seasons. The Buckeyes attracted 413,583 spectators to their five home games — an average of 82,717 per game. Michigan State was second in the nation with a 68,592 average.

Other sectional leaders were Navy and Pittsburgh in the East, Louisiana State, Tulane and Miami in the South, Oklahoma and Colorado in the Midlands, Rice and Texas in the Southwest, New Mexico and Utah in the Rockies, and Washington and California in the Far West.

Flintstone Beats Mt. Savage Jayvees

The victory was the second for Coach "Stony" Jackson's Aggies in three starts.

Ron Stafford and Larry Smith with 13 points each paced the Flintstone scoring while Ron Myers and Don Kinton getting 10 tallies each. Crabtree tossed in 14 markers for Mt. Savage.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Big Clyde Lovellette and his St. Louis Hawks teammates left for Detroit Thursday with the tall star fined $75 for an indifferent performance Wednesday night against the Los Angeles Lakers basketball team.

Coach Paul Seymour slapped the fine on Lovellette, assessing him $25 for each of three times he failed to go back down the court after his team lost the ball. The Lakers scored a 124-113 upset victory over the Hawks.

Liberty Bowl Game Set For Saturday

Both State Coach Rip Engle and Oregon's Len Casanova pronounced their squads fit for this second annual bowl game. They each predict a close game and ask only for clear weather and a dry field.

The U.S. weather station here predicts snow turning to sleet and then rain for Thursday night, but says there will be no additional accumulation on the ground to the 16 inches of show which fell last weekend.

Maphis Has Average Of 15.8 With Frosh

Bill Maphis, former Romney High School scoring ace, is averaging 15.8 points a game for the West Virginia University Freshmen who have copped their first four games of the season.

Maphis has scored 26 field goals in 70 tries for a 37.1 average and has meshed 11 of 15 free throws for 73.3 per cent. He is credited with 43 rebounds and has scored 63 points.

Rams Win Would Throw NFL Race Into Turmoil

Green Bay Packers Need Victory Or Tie For Division Title

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Head Coach Bob Waterfield of the Los Angeles Rams conceded Thursday he could use a few miracles if his team is to upset the Green Bay Packers Saturday.

This is a key game in the National Football League. A Packer victory or even a tie will give them the Western Division title and the playoff game for the championship with the Eastern titleholders, the Philadelphia Eagles.

A loss will send Green Bay into a two-team playoff with either Baltimore or San Francisco, or into a three-way playoff involving the Packers, Detroit and either Baltimore or San Francisco.

Having upset the mighty Colts last Sunday, it would be wonderful for them to wind up a dreary season with still another major upset.

They will be also be playing before 69,000 or 70,000 partisan fans who have suffered through the year with them, not to mention a few million television fans around the country.

Waterfield named eight regulars on the injury list. Two of them, quarterback Frank Ryan and Del Shofner, star end and punter, are officially through for the season.

Others, notably Joe Marconi, Jack Pardee, Gene Brito and Lou Michaels, are considerably banged up.

Legislative Group Wants Races At Fairgo Abandoned

Three Milers Would Share Twelve Days

Favor Creating Job Of Racing Director To Enforce Rules

The committee, headed by State Sen. George B. Rasin, D - Kent, also said an experiment with night racing for thoroughbreds "would not necessarily be detrimental" to the sport.

There was no direct mention in the committee's report of the recent purchase of Bel Air, a half-mile thoroughbred track, by Baltimore Raceway, a harness track. The deal is believed to be the forerunner of application by the raceway for permission to conduct night races for thoroughbreds.

Would Abandon Fairgo

The committee recommended that Cumberland, one of the five half-mile tracks now assigned 12 days each, be abandoned and that its days be divided equally among the state's three one-mile tracks—Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie.

Cumberland, facing stiff competition from Charles Town and Shenandoah Downs in nearby West Virginia, has been unable to attract enough horses. Its last two meetings were held at Hagerstown and Timonium half-mile tracks.

Other Recommendations

The Rasin group, composed of businessmen and members of the legislature, also recommended:

1. The consolidation of Rosecroft and Laurel Raceway, two of the four harness tracks.

2. The use of movie houses with closed-circuit television as possible sites for off-track betting—"if it is ever in the future deemed necessary or advisable from the standpoint of revenue to have off-track betting." The introduction of off-track betting is not advisable now, the committee added.

3. The reduction of nine - race programs to eight races at Pimlico, Laurel and Bowie, except on Saturdays and holidays, and the use of five-days-a-week schedules to include more Saturday racing and thereby boost State revenues.

Doubleheaders Opposed

4. A prohibition against "Pic-Six" betting and morning-afternoon doubleheader racing programs.

5. The creation of the job of executive director of racing to enforce the rules and regulations of the five-member racing commission.

6. Vigilance and action by the commission to prevent harm to Maryland racing by interests which own tracks outside the state, as well as Maryland tracks. (The owners of Pimlico also operate the Charles Town track in West Virginia.)

7. The establishment of a special fund for purses to be put up for races open to Maryland-bred horses as an encouragement to local breeders.

Antagonism Scored

The committee devoted a special section in its report to inter-track cooperation and public relations. It said it found many Maryland track employes "somewhat less than polite" and evidence of "mutual antagonism" among operators of the three major tracks. The antagonism "is distinctly detrimental to the orderly conduct and the quality of Maryland racing," the committee said.

"It is the recommendation of this committee that if this antagonism persists to the detriment of present Maryland racing," the committee added, "or if the antagonism inhibits the growth of Maryland racing to its heretofore unrealized potential, the legislature study the establishment of a non-profit corporation to run Maryland mile racing or the taking over of mile racing by the State."

For years it has been suggested that a schedule enabling Maryland tracks to run against a minimum of competition from non-Maryland tracks—even if this means winter racing—is most profitable to the tracks and the State.

National College Total Of 20,403,409 Is All-Time High

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — College football attendance, aided by favorable weather and a sharp rise in the Rocky Mountain area, soared over the 20-million mark for the first time this year.

A total of 20,403,409 persons viewed games this season, according to a survey of 620 colleges conducted by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. This represented a 4.02 per cent increase over 1959 and topepd the previous high of 19,651,995 set in 1949.

Records also were set this year in average attendance, 7,523 per game, and in season average, 32,-909 per home schedule.

Gain For 7th Year

It was the seventh consecutive season that attendance at college games increased over the previous year. Over the last five years, the attendance has jumped 18 per cent.

College officials reported that only 13.6 per cent of their games were played in "unfavorable weather" this year compared to 41.6 per cent in 1959.

Five of the seven geographical sections of the country showed increases in 1960, topped by a 26.38 per cent rise in the Rockies. Attendance was up 11.62 per cent in the Midlands, 7.32 per cent in the East, 5.46 per cent in the South, and 1.98 per cent in the Midwest.

Dip In Southwest

Ohio State was the individual leader for the third straight year and the sixth time in eight seasons. The Buckeyes attracted 413,583 spectators to their five home games — an average of 82,-717 per game. Michigan State was second in the nation with a 68,592 average.

Other sectional leaders were Navy and Pittsburgh in the East, Louisiana State, Tulane and Miami in the South, Oklahoma and Colorado in the Midlands, Rice and Texas in the Southwest, New Mexico and Utah in the Rockies, and Washington and California in the Far West.

Ron Stafford and Larry Smith with 13 points each paced the Flintstone scoring while Ron Myers and Don Kinton getting 10 tallies each. Crabtree tossed in 14 markers for Mt. Savage.

Liberty Bowl Game Set For Saturday

State worked out on its campus field before leaving for Philadelphia. Oregon drilled at the 100,-000 - seat Philadelphia Stadium where emergency crews put the finishing touches on removing snow from the field and the stands.

Both State Coach Rip Engle and Oregon's Len Casanova pronounced their squads fit for this second annual bowl game. They each predict a close game and ask only for clear weather and a dry field.

The U.S. weather station here predicts snow turning to sleet and then rain for Thursday night, but says there will be no additional accumulation on the ground to the 16 inches of show which fell last weekend.

Maphis Has Average Of 15.8 With Frosh

Maphis has scored 26 field goals in 70 tries for a 37.1 average and has meshed 11 of 15 free throws for 73.3 per cent. He is credited with 43 rebounds and has scored 63 points.

Mike Barger leads with an average of 20.3 and 81 points while Tom Lowery, center, is second with an average of 18.0 and 72 tallies. Lowery leads in rebounds with 106.

Rams Win Would Throw NFL Race Into Turmoil

Green Bay Packers Need Victory Or Tie For Division Title

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Head Coach Bob Waterfield of the Los Angeles Rams conceded Thursday he could use a few miracles if his team is to upset the Green Bay Packers Saturday.

This is a key game in the National Football League. A Packer victory or even a tie will give them the Western Division title and the playoff game for the championship with the Eastern titleholders, the Philadelphia Eagles.

A loss will send Green Bay into a two-team playoff with either Baltimore or San Francisco, or into a three-way playoff involving the Packers, Detroit and either Baltimore or San Francisco.

The Rams, with a 4-6-1 record, would, for several sound reasons, love to throw the division into turmoil.

Having upset the mighty Colts last Sunday, it would be wonderful for them to wind up a dreary season with still another major upset.

They will be also be playing before 69,000 or 70,000 partisan fans who have suffered through the year with them, not to mention a few million television fans around the country.

Waterfield named eight regulars on the injury list. Two of them, quarterback Frank Ryan and Del Shofner, star end and punter, are officially through for the season.

Others, notably Joe Marconi, Jack Pardee, Gene Brito and Lou Michaels, are considerably banged up.

Hitting Home Runs Will Be Made Easier

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hitting home runs will be easier in Candlestick Park in 1961.

The Giants made the decision after a survey by engineer Robert Kingsley of St. Louis, who has spent 15 years studying major league home run statistics.

Charles Town Opens 32-Day Race Meeting

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) —The course that thrives on winter horse racing will open Friday for a scheduled 32 days.

It will be the 28th year the horses will run around the Charles Town track in December and January.

Business is expected to be a little slack Friday and Saturday. The horses also will be racing those days at Pimlico in Baltimore about 70 miles away.

Both tracks are owned by the same people so where they may lose a little in West Virginia they ought to make it up in Baltimore.

Pimlico had been scheduled to close Thursday. But it had to shut down Monday and Tuesday because of the snow storm.

Charles Town Opens 32-Day Race Meeting

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—The course that thrives on winter horse racing will open Friday for a scheduled 32 days.

It will be the 28th year the horses will run around the Charles Town track in December and January.

Business is expected to be a little slack Friday and Saturday. The horses also will be racing those days at Pimlico in Baltimore about 70 miles away.

Both tracks are owned by the same people so where they may lose a little in West Virginia they ought to make it up in Baltimore.

Pimlico had been scheduled to close Thursday. But it had to shut down Monday and Tuesday because of the snow storm.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all our relatives, neighbors and friends for their kindness to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Anna Marie Tagliaferre. We especially wish to thank Rev. Fratto and Rev. Cover, the pallbearers, those who sent food, floral offerings and sympathy cards and those who donated cars.

In Memoriam

LOWERY—Elmer C. In memory of my uncle who passed away three years ago today.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them that's true,
Years that may come cannot sever

Market Closes Irregular After Late Selling Wave

NEW YORK (UPI) — A late selling wave knocked the stock market into lower ground Thursday capping another hectic session of speculation and wide price swings among specialty issues.

Perkins-Elmer, a maker of optical instruments and a newcomer to the big board, characterized the session by gyrating over a five-point spread all day and finally finishing up 3½. Amphenol-Borg finished an active 2½ higher in the electronics where Texas Instruments lost 4.

Marquardt was strong in the defense issues for a while but lost ½ at the close while Douglas and Martin rose around a point. Although most of the electrical equipment-makers finished higher, General Electric dropped a point. Most oils were down fractions but the speculative Universal Oil Products ran up 1.

Al the motors finished fractionally lower including American Motors which announced a rebate plan to customers if sales reach a certain level. Steels generally stayed close to home despite word of production closedowns during the Christmas season.

Most food stocks lost ground on brokerage advice that the group was getting too high. Rail stocks performed fairly well as a group by virtue of a 2 point gain in Norfolk & Western. 1⅛ in Nickel Plate and 1⅜ in Southern Railway. B&O dropped 2½ on rumors the dividend would be cut. C&O gained ⅜.

Volume, amounting to 3,660,000 shares, trailed Wednesday by 220,000.

Market Closes Irregular After Late Selling Wave

NEW YORK (UPI) — A late selling wave knocked the stock market into lower ground Thursday capping another hectic session of speculation and wide price swings among specialty issues.

Virtually no group finished consistently in either direction and while the popular averages lost ground, the number of advances and declines just about split.

Perkins-Elmer, a maker of optical instruments and a newcomer to the big board, characterized the session by gyrating over a five-point spread all day and finally finishing up 3½. Amphenol-Borg finished an active 2½ higher in the electronics where Texas Instruments lost 4.

Marquardt was strong in the defense issues for a while but lost ½ at the close while Douglas and Martin rose around a point. Although most of the electrical equipment-makers finished higher, General Electric dropped a point. Most oils were down fractions but the speculative Universal Oil Products ran up 1.

All the motors finished fractionally lower including American Motors which announced a rebate plan to customers if sales reach a certain level. Steels generally stayed close to home despite word of production closedowns during the Christmas season.

Most food stocks lost ground on brokerage advice that the group was getting too high. Rail stocks performed fairly well as a group by virtue of a 2 point gain in Norfolk & Western. 1⅛ in Nickel Plate and 1⅜ in Southern Railway. B&O dropped 2½ on rumors the dividend would be cut. C&O gained ⅜.

Volume, amounting to 3,660,000 shares, trailed Wednesday by 220,000.

Kimble Outlines Abuses In Idle Pay Program

Says Employers Have Lacked Interest

Maryland employers are faced with some undesirable aspects of the unemployment insurance law because they have not taken enough interest in the law's provisions in past years to affect the course of the program, Robert B. Kimble, executive director of the Maryland Department of Employment Security said here last night.

Mr. Kimble, former Allegany County state senator, spoke before a dutch treat dinner meeting of about 80 local industrial and business leaders at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The meeting was organized by Earl Chaney, local trucking company president, and Lewis J. Ort, president of Ort Brothers Bakery, was chairman

"There are many things in the law that should not be there," Mr. Kimble told his audience of employers.

Favors Basic Act

He said he voted for the Maryland act that set up the unemployment compensation program 25 years ago and that he is still in favor of it. "But I am not enthusiastic about some of the things that have crept into the law."

The unemployment insurance law provides weekly payments (maximum $35 a week for 26 weeks) for workers who are jobless through no fault of their own. It is financed by a tax levied on employers.

Mr. Kimble told the employers that a long-standing lack of sufficient interest on their part has contributed to the continual extension of so-called "welfare" aspects of the law.

In a speech that lasted exactly an hour Mr. Kimble explained the workings of the law, and outlined amendments he has recommended. A few have been adopted, and others are still in the works. Some have been tabled indefinitely.

He also cited various abuses of unemployment pay that have taken place, and he said that these happened because of defects in the law, rather than through faulty administration.

Comments Cited

Samples:

"There are more on the receiving end than on the giving end of unemployment compensation. How can employers carry enough weight to get the laws changed?"

— We're not indifferent. We're concerned about some of the things we see going on, but what the hell can we do about it?"

Mr. Kimble suggested a possible second step in an effort to acquaint local employers with the law and its workings would be a series of intensive seminars on the law. He said he would be willing to take part in such meetings.

Kimble Speaks Here

Robert B. Kimble, right, executive director of the Maryland Department of Employment Security, is welcomed last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club by Lewis J. Ort, center, and Earl Chaney, local truck company president, who instigated a dinner meeting of business and industrial leaders to hear Mr. Kimble explain the unemployment insurance law. Mr. Ort was chairman of the meeting.

Mutual Study Of Hospital Costs Is Slow

BALTIMORE (AP) — A spokesman for Maryland's doctors chided the Blue Cross and the Hospital Council Thursday for not going far enough in mutual studies of abuses and costs.

Dr. Whitmer B. Firor, president of the Maryland Medical and Chirurgical Faculty, concurred with the other two organizations in five recommendations for checking abuses of hospitalization and use of facilities.

But he said there should be more study of hospital costs and expressed the belief it "may prove fruitful."

"Blue Cross and the Hospital Council have not been willing to publicly state their interest in such studies," Dr. Firor stated in a letter to members of the faculty.

In a minority report to F. Douglas Sears, state insurance commissioner, Dr. Firor also said the doctors wanted to discuss the utilization of hospital facilities with insurance companies other than Blue Cross.

"Again the Blue Cross and Hospital Council representatives felt this did not concern them," Dr Firor informed the commissioner.

The recommendations of the three organizations forwarded to Sears were the result of four months of discussion.

Sears had directed the groups to offer some suggestions or he would. This was after a good percentage of doctors admitted in an independent survey they acceded to requests by patients to be admitted to hospitals merely to collect Blue Cross benefits for diagnosis which are supposedly uncollectible.

Sears at the time also authorized Blue Cross to raise its premiums by 17.9 per cent. It was the third straight annual increase.

The main proposal forthcoming from the doctors, insurance company and hospitals as a result of Sears' order was formation of a committee of physicians to help Blue Cross review questionable claims.

Early Snow Plowing Plan Is Ordered

Airport Work Begins At Two-Inch Mark

This order was given by Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday to Charles F. Heller, maintenance superintendent of the airport.

As skies became ominous yesterday, Mayor Keech ordered that the truck, already equipped with a snow blade, be filled with gas and made ready to roll any time during the day or night.

He said the standing order to begin plowing as soon as two inches of snow accumulates was issued following a conference with City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Mayor Keech said he has been assured it is cheaper in the long run to begin plowing as soon as the snow reaches the two-inch mark than to wait until the snowfall is over.

Mayor Keech said 90 per cent of the taxi strips are open and that planes have been able to use the airport during the storm.

Smoke Scare

East Side Fire Company and an engine and the aerial truck from Central Fire Company answered an alarm at Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday shortly after 6 p.m. Firemen report, however, it was just a smoke scare, returning 30 minutes later to their stations.

Boyd Payton Takes Test On Lie Detector

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Union leader Boyd E. Payton, still maintaining his innocence, underwent a lie detector test here Thursday in an effort to gain his freedom from prison.

Payton, handcuffed and wearing prison dungarees, was taken to the State Bureau of Investigation laboratories about noon for the test which required several hours.

If results of the test are favorable to Payton, it could help him gain his freedom from a 6 to 10 year sentence he is serving on charges of conspiring to dynamite facilities at the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills during the bitter strike at Henderson last year. Payton, formerly of Cumberland, Md., is Carolinas director for the Textile Workers Union of America which conducted the strike.

Payton's lawyers said he submitted to the test against their advice.

Payton, who entered prison early in October, was transferred here from a Lincoln County prison camp recently so that he could be given the test. Presumably he will be sent back to the camp while he awaits the result of the test and action by the paroles board, if any.

Frostburg Bank Gets $300,000 In County Funds

Some $300,000 in Allegany County funds which are not needed in the immediate future have been deposited within the past month in the Frostburg National Bank according to County Commissioner John T. Mason.

Some $100,000 of that total, on 90-day deposit, will yield two and three-quarter per cent interest. The other $200,000, just deposited, will yield two and one-half per cent interest by the time the 90 days expire March 9.

Latest Fiscal Data Prepared About County

May Improve Credit Rating

Up-to-date fiscal information on Allegany County has been prepared for Moody's Investors Service of New York City for inclusion in Moody's Municipal and Government Manual.

County Commissioner John T. Mason said the county officials have had the assistance of Joseph M. Naughton, president of the Second National Bank, in the preparation of this data. It is hoped that the revision of the figures may enable the county to better its present "A" credit rating thereby improving the interest rate on bonds it may be required to issue, Mr. Mason explained.

This information shows that the bonded indebtedness of $7,657,790.32 as of June 30 is less than 4.7 per cent of the county's assessed valuation of $164,000,000. The report also states that the county is contingently liable for another $423,000 special assessment bonds.

The data reveals that the assessed valuation has gradually moved upward the last four years. It was $153,114,079 in 1957, $158,000,000 in 1958, $162,000,000 in 1959 and $164,000,000 this year. The tax rate was $20.50 on each $1,000 of assessed value in 1957 and 1958, then jumped to $22.20 in 1959 and back to $22 in 1960.

Only $61,462.32 of the $3,707,662.12 levied in the fiscal year which ended June 30 was not collected. The collections of $3,646,199.80 for the fiscal year which ended June 30 constitute 98.34 per cent of the levy.

As of June 30, 1960, nearly all of the county taxes for the previour four years had been collected. The $3,363,342.99 in 1959 taxes collected as of this past June 30 was 99.7 per cent of the levy. For 1958, the $3,221,421.54 was 99.94 per cent of the levy. The $3,138,872.25 collected for 1957 was a little better than 100 per cent of the entire levy. A similar 100 per cent collection record had been compiled as of last June 30 on the 1956 levy of $3,012,654.

Coupled with the information on county fiscal affairs was data on county industry, business and agriculture.

The value of the county's manufactured products as of 1958 was $93,111,000. The mining tonnage was 206,634.18. Capital expenditures of manufacturers in 1958 was $18,121,000. The 1959 estimated retail sales for the county were $89,496,000.

Allegany County's 1959 estimated per capita buying income was $1,544 and the total industrial payroll in 1959 was $71,313,108. These figures came from the Industrial Promotion Department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

This county has a total acreage of 272,640 acres, of which 35.5 per cent was in farmland in 1959. The average size of the county farms was 171.7 acre, the average value of land and buildings was $12,371 per farm and $80.87 per acre. The value of farm products sold in 1954 was $1,443,602. That was the last year for which detailed farm figures are available.

Fort Hill Senior Named To All-Eastern Chorus

Marjorie Johnson, a senior at Fort Hill High Scholl, has been selected as a member of the All-Eastern Chorus of the Music Educators National Conference and will attend the biennial convention next month in Washington, D.C.

Miss Johnson, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Johnson, 148 East Mary Street, is a second alto and will attend a schedule of rehearsals in Washington from January 13 to January 16.

The chorus, which will be under the direction of William L. Dawson of Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute, will perform for the Eastern Division Convention at the Sheraton Park Hotel on January 16.

The Fort Hill student was recommended for the chorus by her music teacher, Miss Annetta Yates, and was auditioned by Charles I. Sager, director of music at Frostburg State Teachers College, and Lavern Hahn, supervisor of music education for Allegany County.

She was selected on the basis of her ability as a performer, interest in the music program of both her school and state and citizenship.

She also is a member of Grace Methodist Church where she is a member of the choir and girls' trio. Miss Johnson is president of the MYF of the church and is active in the Rainbow Girls.

Light Rain Helps Begin Snow Thaw

Clearing Forecast For Tomorrow

A light rain throughout much of the Tri-State area yesterday quickened the thaw of Sunday's big snowfall and the forecast for today was continued drizzles, possibly changing to snow flurries, clearing tonight and tomorrow with temperatures in the 40s.

State Police in LaVale reported highways clear in both Allegany and Garrett counties, although some icy spots were noted. A light drizzle fell in Garrett County beginning in the early afternoon yesterday.

R. E. Weber, Oakland weather observer, said .03 of an inch of rain was registered by nightfall in Garrett County and the snow began melting in the 40-degree temperature. Approximately eight inches remain on the ground, he said, and the snow is turning wet and slushy.

Garrett County had higher temperatures for the day than did Allegany County. The official high at Oakland was 40 degrees with an overnight low of 18. At 6 p.m. the thermometer registered 36 degrees.

Cumberland's official high was 36 degrees yesterday, following a low of 16 and at 6 p.m. the mercury stood at 32. There is about nine inches of snow remaining on the ground in the city limits.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford reported temperatures in the high 30s yesterday with a light drizzle of rain beginning in the afternoon. Main highways were bare with occasional ice spots which were clearing up with the rainfall. Temperatures were dropping slightly last night.

State Police in Romney, W. Va., reported a slight drizzle began about 4 p.m. as temperatures remained in the low 30s. Highways were wet but bare in most places.

Water Unit Is Not Affected By Storm

Simon Carroll, superintendent of water distribution and maintenance, said the only trouble reported was that about half a dozen water meters froze and broke when people left basement windows open early this week.

The Allegany County Health Department said attendance at clinics this week has been poor but that none was cancelled.

Tawes Proposes New Tax Plan For Maryland

Will Support Modest Boost

By HERB THOMPSON

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Thursday he will submit a new tax program to the 1961 Maryland Legislature to offset new spending proposals in his budget for next fiscal year.

He indicated it would be preferable to seek a modest boost now rather than a larger one, which fiscal experts say would be inevitable, in 1962.

The governor received official revenue estimates which show the state can expect to have nearly $23 million in unspent general fund revenue by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30, including the $12 million he set aside from surplus last February.

Offer No Hope

But the estimates offer no hope of the state's current rate of tax collections keeping up with the growth of the budget, which nas been increasing an average of $17 million a year.

Tawes recently approved $10 million in added spending for next year in the form of higher aid to education and welfare to subdivisions and to finance $1.3 million in increases for state employes. He reiterated today he would back up the proposals with whatever taxes prove necessary.

He thus placed himself in agreement with legislative leaders and state fiscal experts who have been urging a tax adjustment next year in order to forestall larger problems in the election year of 1962.

The governor did not discuss any specific proposals, however. He said the amount of new tax money and the type would be determined after a final screening of budget requests.

Sen. William S. James (D-Harford), chairman of the Legislative Council's committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, and some other legislative fiscal leaders have recommended lowering the starting point of the sales tax to purchases of about 20 cents rather than the present 51 cents.

The Board of Revenue Estimates said the State's General Fund Revenue, which should be $227,750,865 for the current year, will rise only about $5 million a year for the next two years.

To balance his General Fund budget expected to exceed $252 million for next year, the gover-

Defendants Win Damage Suit In Court Here

A $10,000 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday was ended by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris with a verdict for the defendants, Richard Harry Brant, 4 Harrison Street, and Edward Hare, trading as Hare Motor Sales, Williams and Orchard streets.

Mrs. Julia B. Newman, 521 Cumberland Street, had brought the suit as a result of injuries she sustained in an automobile accident which occurred at the intersection of Laing and Virginia avenues about 5:10 p.m. Sunday, May 29.

Mrs. Newman was a passenger in an automobile which her husband, Cranston O. Newman, was driving in an easterly direction on Laing Avenue. Mr. Brant, a mechanic for Hare, was driving north on Virginia Avenue, coming up from the B&O underpass.

Photograps of the scene submitted as evidence show there is a stop sign on Laing Avenue at that intersection despite the fact that it is a part of the so-called Cumberland Industrial Boulevard.

Six witnesses testified before Judge Harris handed down his decision in the non-jury trial. Included were Police Officers William Norris and James A. Brown, Herman Raley and Fred Victor Rathburn, who were spectators at the accident scene, Mrs. Newman and Mr. Brant.

Mrs. Newman was represented by Attorneys Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson. The defense attorney was Gorman E. Getty.

Christmas Perfume Hoax Warning Is Issued Here

A warning against promoters who seek to capitalize on gift giving at Christmas time by offering supposedly high priced perfume at alleged "bargain" prices was issued yesterday by Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

He said the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated, reports that schemes used during previous Christmas shopping seasons are appearing again and can be expected to reach a peak during the last Yuletide shopping days.

The bureau said one major source of confusion was the sale of world-famous brands of cologne and toilet water rebottled in small containers by companies which have no connection with the manufacturers.

The public, it said, gets the impression it is purchasing expensive perfume at low prices while actually the price is exorbitant when compared with that set by the manufacturer.

It said an eight-ounce bottle of one brand of toilet water much favored by rebottlers regularly sells at $10, or less than 16 cents a dram. Rebottled, purse-size containers, the bureau said, commonly sell at $1 each.

Mr. Petersen said the bureau also reports that a great deal of the perfume, toilet water and cologne has been purchased by Christmas shoppers who believed they were paying far below the normal costs.

The bureau said some bottles of toilet water have been preticketed with prices ranging up to $20 when, as far as could be determined, they were customarily sold within the $1 to $3 price range.

Gift shoppers can best protect themselves from Yuletide rackets, Mr. Petersen said, by making purchases from dealers whose reliability is well known to them.

Kimble Outlines Abuses In Idle Pay Program

Says Employers Have Lacked Interest

Maryland employers are faced with some undesirable aspects of the unemployment insurance law because they have not taken enough interest in the law's provisions in past years to affect the course of the program, Robert B. Kimble, executive director of the Maryland Department of Employment Security said here last night.

Mr. Kimble, former Allegany County state senator, spoke before a dutch treat dinner meeting of about 80 local industrial and business leaders at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The meeting was organized by Earl Chaney, local trucking company president, and Lewis J. Ort, president of Ort Brothers Bakery, was chairman

"There are many things in the law that should not be there," Mr. Kimble told his audience of employers.

Favors Basic Act

He said he voted for the Maryland act that set up the unemployment compensation program 25 years ago and that he is still in favor of it. "But I am not enthusiastic about some of the things that have crept into the law."

The unemployment insurance law provides weekly payments (maximum $35 a week for 26 weeks) for workers who are jobless through no fault of their own. It is financed by a tax levied on employers.

Mr. Kimble told the employers that a long-standing lack of sufficient interest on their part has contributed to the continual extension of so-called "welfare" aspects of the law.

In a speech that lasted exactly an hour Mr. Kimble explained the workings of the law, and outlined amendments he has recommended. A few have been adopted, and others are still in the works. Some have been tabled indefinitely.

He also cited various abuses of unemployment pay that have taken place, and he said that these happened because of defects in the law, rather than through faulty administration.

Comments Cited

Samples:

— "Isn't that one of the things that Chambers of Commerce can watch out for? Isn't anybody lobbying for us?"

"There are more on the receiving end than on the giving end of unemployment compensation. How can employers carry enough weight to get the laws changed?"

— We're not indifferent. We're concerned about some of the things we see going on, but what the hell can we do about it?"

Mr. Kimble suggested a possible second step in an effort to acquaint local employers with the law and its workings would be a series of intensive seminars on the law. He said he would be willing to take part in such meetings.

Kimble Speaks Here

Robert B. Kimble, right, executive director of the Maryland Department of Employment Security, is welcomed last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club by Lewis J. Ort, center, and Earl Chaney, local truck company president, who instigated a dinner meeting of business and industrial leaders to hear Mr. Kimble explain the unemployment insurance law. Mr. Ort was chairman of the meeting.

Mutual Study Of Hospital Costs Is Slow

BALTIMORE (AP) — A spokesman for Maryland's doctors chided the Blue Cross and the Hospital Council Thursday for not going far enough in mutual studies of abuses and costs.

Dr. Whitmer B. Firor, president of the Maryland Medical and Chirurgical Faculty, concurred with the other two organizations in five recommendations for checking abuses of hospitalization and use of facilities.

But he said there should be more study of hospital costs and expressed the belief it "may prove fruitful."

"Blue Cross and the Hospital Council have not been willing to publicly state their interest in such studies," Dr. Firor stated in a letter to members of the faculty.

In a minority report to F. Douglas Sears, state insurance commissioner, Dr. Firor also said the doctors wanted to discuss the utilization of hospital facilities with insurance companies other than Blue Cross.

"Again the Blue Cross and Hospital Council representatives felt this did not concern them," Dr Firor informed the commissioner.

The recommendations of the three organizations forwarded to Sears were the result of four months of discussion.

Sears had directed the groups to offer some suggestions or he would. This was after a good percentage of doctors admitted in an independent survey they acceded to requests by patients to be admitted to hospitals merely to collect Blue Cross benefits for diagnosis which are supposedly uncollectible.

Sears at the time also authorized Blue Cross to raise its premiums by 17.9 per cent. It was the third straight annual increase.

The main proposal forthcoming from the doctors, insurance company and hospitals as a result of Sears' order was formation of a committee of physicians to help Blue Cross review questionable claims.

Early Snow Plowing Plan Is Ordered

Airport Work Begins At Two-Inch Mark

Crews at the Cumberland Municipal Airport have been told to get snow plows rolling as soon as snow is two inches deep.

This order was given by Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday to Charles F. Heller, maintenance superintendent of the airport.

As skies became ominous yesterday, Mayor Keech ordered that the truck, already equipped with a snow blade, be filled with gas and made ready to roll any time during the day or night.

He said the standing order to begin plowing as soon as two inches of snow accumulates was issued following a conference with City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Mayor Keech said he has been assured it is cheaper in the long run to begin plowing as soon as the snow reaches the two-inch mark than to wait until the snowfall is over.

The airport crews yesterday completed opening all three runways at the port, where 13 inches of snow fell Sunday night and Monday morning.

Mayor Keech said 90 per cent of the taxi strips are open and that planes have been able to use the airport during the storm.

Boyd Payton Takes Test On Lie Detector

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Union leader Boyd E. Payton, still maintaining his innocence, underwent a lie detector test here Thursday in an effort to gain his freedom from prison.

Payton, handcuffed and wearing prison dungarees, was taken to the State Bureau of Investigation laboratories about noon for the test which required several hours.

If results of the test are favorable to Payton, it could help him gain his freedom from a 6 to 10 year sentence he is serving on charges of conspiring to dynamite facilities at the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills during the bitter strike at Henderson last year. Payton, formerly of Cumberland, Md., is Carolinas director for the Textile Workers Union of America which conducted the strike.

Payton's lawyers said he submitted to the test against their advice.

Payton, who entered prison early in October, was transferred here from a Lincoln County prison camp recently so that he could be given the test. Presumably he will be sent back to the camp while he awaits the result of the test and action by the paroles board, if any.

Frostburg Bank Gets $300,000 In County Funds

Some $100,000 of that total, on 90-day deposit, will yield two and three-quarter per cent interest. The other $200,000, just deposited, will yield two and one-half per cent interest by the time the 90 days expire March 9.

Latest Fiscal Data Prepared About County

May Improve Credit Rating

Up-to-date fiscal information on Allegany County has been prepared for Moody's Investors Service of New York City for inclusion in Moody's Municipal and Government Manual.

County Commissioner John T. Mason said the county officials have had the assistance of Joseph M. Naughton, president of the Second National Bank, in the preparation of this data. It is hoped that the revision of the figures may enable the county to better its present "A" credit rating thereby improving the interest rate on bonds it may be required to issue, Mr. Mason explained.

This information shows that the bonded indebtedness of $7,657,790.32 as of June 30 is less than 4.7 per cent of the county's assessed valuation of $164,000,000. The report also states that the county is contingently liable for another $423,000 special assessment bonds.

The data reveals that the assessed valuation has gradually moved upward the last four years. It was $153,114,079 in 1957, $158,000,000 in 1958, $162,000,000 in 1959 and $164,000,000 this year. The tax rate was $20.50 on each $1,000 of assessed value in 1957 and 1958, then jumped to $22.20 in 1959 and back to $22 in 1960.

Only $61,462.32 of the $3,707,662.12 levied in the fiscal year which ended June 30 was not collected. The collections of $3,646,199.80 for the fiscal year which ended June 30 constitute 98.34 per cent of the levy.

As of June 30, 1960, nearly all of the county taxes for the previour four years had been collected. The $3,363,342.99 in 1959 taxes collected as of this past June 30 was 99.7 per cent of the levy. For 1958, the $3,221,421.54 was 99.94 per cent of the levy. The $3,138,872.25 collected for 1957 was a little better than 100 per cent of the entire levy. A similar 100 per cent collection record had been compiled as of last June 30 on the 1956 levy of $3,012,654.

Coupled with the information on county fiscal affairs was data on county industry, business and agriculture.

The value of the county's manufactured products as of 1958 was $93,111,000. The mining tonnage was 206,634.18. Capital expenditures of manufacturers in 1958 was $18,121,000. The 1959 estimated retail sales for the county were $89,496,000.

Allegany County's 1959 estimated per capita buying income was $1,544 and the total industrial payroll in 1959 was $71,313,108. These figures came from the Industrial Promotion Department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

This county has a total acreage of 272,640 acres, of which 35.5 per cent was in farmland in 1959. The average size of the county farms was 171.7 acre, the average value of land and buildings was $12,371 per farm and $80.87 per acre. The value of farm products sold in 1954 was $1,443,602. That was the last year for which detailed farm figures are available.

Light Rain Helps Begin Snow Thaw

Clearing Forecast For Tomorrow

A light rain throughout much of the Tri-State area yesterday quickened the thaw of Sunday's big snowfall and the forecast for today was continued drizzles, possibly changing to snow flurries, clearing tonight and tomorrow with temperatures in the 40s.

State Police in LaVale reported highways clear in both Allegany and Garrett counties, although some icy spots were noted. A light drizzle fell in Garrett County beginning in the early afternoon yesterday.

R. E. Weber, Oakland weather observer, said .03 of an inch of rain was registered by nightfall in Garrett County and the snow began melting in the 40-degree temperature. Approximately eight inches remain on the ground, he said, and the snow is turning wet and slushy.

Garrett County had higher temperatures for the day than did Allegany County. The official high at Oakland was 40 degrees with an overnight low of 18. At 6 p.m. the thermometer registered 36 degrees.

Allegany had cloudy weather with a light snow pelting the area about 4 p. m. The snow pellets lasted about 15 minutes, according to R. R. Golden, Constitution Park weather observer.

Cumberland's official high was 36 degrees yesterday, following a low of 16 and at 6 p.m. the mercury stood at 32. There is about nine inches of snow remaining on the ground in the city limits.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford reported temperatures in the high 30s yesterday with a light drizzle of rain beginning in the afternoon. Main highways were bare with occasional ice spots which were clearing up with the rainfall. Temperatures were dropping slightly last night.

State Police in Romney, W. Va., reported a slight drizzle began about 4 p.m. as temperatures remained in the low 30s. Highways were wet but bare in most places.

Water Unit Is Not Affected By Storm

Simon Carroll, superintendent of water distribution and maintenance, said the only trouble reported was that about half a dozen water meters froze and broke when people left basement windows open early this week.

The Allegany County Health Department said attendance at clinics this week has been poor but that none was cancelled.

Tawes Proposes New Tax Plan For Maryland

Will Support Modest Boost

By HERB THOMPSON

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Thursday he will submit a new tax program to the 1961 Maryland Legislature to offset new spending proposals in his budget for next fiscal year.

He indicated it would be preferable to seek a modest boost now rather than a larger one, which fiscal experts say would be inevitable, in 1962.

The governor received official revenue estimates which show the state can expect to have nearly $23 million in unspent general fund revenue by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30, including the $12 million he set aside from surplus last February.

Offer No Hope

But the estimates offer no hope of the state's current rate of tax collections keeping up with the growth of the budget, which has been increasing an average of $17 million a year.

Tawes recently approved $10 million in added spending for next year in the form of higher aid to education and welfare to subdivisions and to finance $1.3 million in increases for state employes. He reiterated today he would back up the proposals with whatever taxes prove necessary.

"When it's a recurring figure added to the budget, you've got to be fiscally sound by providing for offsetting the cost of new programs," the governor told newsmen.

He thus placed himself in agreement with legislative leaders and state fiscal experts who have been urging a tax adjustment next year in order to forestall larger problems in the election year of 1962.

The governor did not discuss any specific proposals, however. He said the amount of new tax money and the type would be determined after a final screening of budget requests.

Sen. William S. James (D-Harford), chairman of the Legislative Council's committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, and some other legislative fiscal leaders have recommended lowering the starting point of the sales tax to purchases of about 20 cents rather than the present 51 cents.

The Board of Revenue Estimates said the State's General Fund Revenue, which should be $227,750,865 for the current year, will rise only about $5 million a year for the next two years.

To balance his General Fund budget expected to exceed $252 million for next year, the gover-
